Old Folks Are Being 'Taxed Out Of Homes'

By DON GRIERSON

North County Council of Cities delegates Thursday adopted a resolution calling upon the State Legislature to institute property tax reforms during 1969, and "alleviate a tragic situation where our older citizens are being taxed out of their homes."

The resolution was introduced by Daly City Mayor Bernard "Bud" Lycett, who was subsequently appointed as a one-man committee to head the North County's fight for tax reforms this yearm

"Many of our older residents in Daly City are literally being taxed out of their homes,' Lycett said, "and this is a most regrettable situation."

"The tax laws and assessment practices in California are obsolete, and I place the blame for property tax inequities squarely upon the legislature," he said.

Lycett charged that the recently passed Proposition 1-A tax measure "was a band-aid applied to a problem which requires major surgery.'

In addition to the hardships placed upon senior citizens and others living on a fixed income, the high property tax rate is "making it virtually impossible to pass school bond issues," he said, "and our schools are in danger of losing many of their educational programs."

San Mateo County Tax Assessor Jack Estes guest speaker at the meeting held in San Bruno, agreed with the Daly City mayor's contention that property taxes have reached the point where some citizens "simply can't stand anymore."

"I would be the first to agree that taxing older citizens out of their homes is un - American," Estes said.

Though the money for government "has to come from somewhere," Estes suggested that the burden upon property owners might be shifted somewhat by increasing the tax exemption provided by 1-A.

"The legislature has the power to increase the present $750 exemption," the county assessor said, "and it could be increased to $1,500 or even $2,000. But we would still have the problem of replacing the revenue source."

Assemblyman Leo Ryan, who was also present at the Thursday night meeting, told city officials it is "hard to say" whether or not a tax reform bill will be passed this year.

"There will be considerable division between the two parties in the legislature this year, and some bitter battles are in store," Ryan said.

A pending "restructuring" of leadership in both the assembly and the senate will also contribute to the confusion, the assemblyman said.

"This will effect any effort toward passing tax reform bills, or anything else," Ryan said.

To bolster the impact of the NCCC resolution, Ryan urged councilmen from the member cities to adopt their own resolutions at the city level.

He also suggested that city officials 'bring pressure" upon other members of the state legislature, including San Mateo County Sen. Richard Dolwig, in urging tax reform.

Ryan also agreed to furnish North County city officials with the names of "key legislators who oppose changes in the property tax laws," and invited the mayors and councilmen to visit Sacramento and present their case personally.

In assessing the chances for property tax relief, Ryan indicated the best prospects rest with the possibility of a federal "tax sharing program" and the institution of a system of withholding income tax in California.

"There has been a great amount of talk in Washington about tax-sharing once the war in Vietnam has ended," he said.

"If the total $25-$30 billion spent annually on the war was distributed to the states, California's share would be enough to cover the entire cost of our educational system, about $3 billion per year," the assemblyman said.

Ryan also said he feels a system of withholding state income tax, which has been consistently opposed by Gov. Ronald Reagan, would "go far toward relieving the property tax burden."

Thursday night's NCCC meeting was held at the Lazy V Restaurant in San Bruno, with Mayor George Ingham and members of the San Bruno council as hostsm

The next meeting will be held in South San Francisco in March.

NCCC members voted Thursday to invite Sen. Dolwig as guest speaker at the March meeting "if he is available," to further discuss the property tax issue.

FLAG DISPUTE — Pacifica Jaycees Lee Riewerts, left, and John Drew are among the active opponents to a School Strategy Committee proposal to fly the California State Flag in an upside down position as a "distress signal," at the city's elemenatry schools. Riewerts and Drew, along with directors of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce and some others, are opposing the "stunt" on grounds that it would "debase the state flag."

AN EMOTIONAL DISPUTE

Opposition in Pacifica to Flying Bear Flag Upside Down at Laguna Schools

A school finance committee in Pacifica has been split by an emotional dispute over a proposal to fly the California State Flag in an upside down position.

Some members of the School Finance Strategy Committee, organized several weeks ago to seek ways of obtaining additional state funds for the city's elementary schools, have vehemently objected to a proposal that the Bear Flag be flown upside down at the schools as a "distress signal."

A directive from the office of Laguna Salada Elementary School Dist. Supt. Fred Lucas last month reportedly called upon principals at each of the district schools to fly the state flag in the upside down position January 13.

The city's chamber of commerce directors and some members of the Jaycees, including Laguna Salada Trustee Stan Farber, have gone on record opposing the "stunt," and blasted the committee members who proposed it.

Backers of the controversial "distress signal" have maintained that it is necessary to "do something dramatic" to interest the news media and the public in the school district's financial plight.

A vote was taken on the flag-flying issue at a disruptive meeting of the committee members last week, and a proposal to abandon the stunt was voted down 14 to 7.

Committee members decided to leave the issue up to the discretion of individual school principals.

Farber said he feels the "stunt" will jeopardize the support of "solid citizens" in the city for the district's upcoming bond issue election.

He said he has received numerous complaints from representatives of various civic organizations in the city who are vehemently opposed to "debasing the state flag by using it in a cheap stunt."

In addition to the flag-flying ploy, the school finance committee is planning to distribute bumper sticker and buttons, and to place signs presenting information on the district's financial plight at the meeting.

Farber has gone on record in opposition to the "dramatic actions" involved in the campaign.

Another committee member, Jaycee representative Lee Reiwerts, also stated he feels "there are more adult ways" to approach the problem.

Farber questioned the committee's right to place the "distress signs" at the schools without first obtaining permission from the Board of Trustees and declined to accept an appointment to head the group's subcommittee for "drastic action."

At the meeting last Thursday, members of the committee said they will appear at tomorrow night's school board meeting and attempt to gain board support for their activities.

The School Finance Strategy Committee is attempting to gain statewide "equalization" for school districts, to aid poorer districts, such as Laguna Salada.

Teachers in the city's elementary schools receivee no pay increase at all this year, and officials have warned of "dire consequences" unless additional state funds are obtained.

Planners Berated

Council in S.S.F. Declines To Act on Rezone Issue

Because of a typographical error in a newspaper legal advertisement, South San Francisco councilmen Monday ordered the city's planning commission to repeat the lengthy public hearing procedure in a rezoning application.

Councilmen sent the controversial proposal for rezoning the 2.5-acre Giannini parcel adjacent to Sunshine Gardens Subdivision on Holly Avenue back to commissioners because the published legal notice indicated the applicants were seeking "R-3" (residential apartments) zoning, instead of "U" (unclassified) zoning.

In refusing to consider the planning commission's recommendation to approve the rezoning, Mayor Frank Bertucelli and council members acted against the advice of City Planner Daniel Pass, who maintained all legal obligations in the hearing procedure had been met by telephoning residents of the area and hand-delivering notices to more than 70 households.

It is doubtful, however, that the council would have approved the planning commission's recommendation in the rezoning matter Monday, even if all legal technicalities had been in order.

More than 80 residents of the Sunshine Gardens area have protested the planned rezoning, on grounds an apartment development on the parcel would represent a "detriment to the neighborhood."

Mayor Bertucelli and Councilman Patrick Ahern berated Pass and members of the planning commission at a caucus meeting Monday afternoon, stating that the planners "are not meeting the needs of the people, if this many residents (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

Valley Park Pacts OK'd

South San Francisco councilmen awarded contracts for final landscaping and paving projects at the new Paradise Valley Park in the city Monday, completing financing of the neighborhood park at a cost $1,300 less than the $18,264 budgeted for the project.

The paving contract was awarded to the L. C. Smith Co., low bidder at $1,675. Two other bids were entered on the paving phase.

The landscaping contract went to the A. and J. Shooter firm, which also entered the lowest of three bids at $1,568.

$3,000 Coast Falcon Still Is Missing

A hunting falcon valued at $3,000 which either escaped or was stolen from its owner's Pacifica residence last Friday still has not returned home, police said today.

The bird, a California prairie falcon, disappeared from Kenneth Gammon's Rockaway Beach home while Gammon was at work. An air vent in a wall of the house had been torn open, but it was impossible to tell whether the bird removed the screen, or whether someone broke into the house and "abducted" him, police said.

Gammon, who has had the bird for about five years, said it has stayed away from home for as much as two days at a time in the past, but "never for this long a period."

The bird once returned home on its own after being turned (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

MISSING BIRD—The owner of this California prairie falcon, Kenneth Gammon, 777 Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, is offering a reward for the bird's return. The falcon, which weighs 34 ounces and has a 42-inch wingspread, disappeared from Gammon's home last Friday. According to Gammon, the bird is "irreplaceable," and is valued at about $3,000.

New Settlement

Lawsuit Yielding Cash for S.S.F.

The city of South San Francisco will receive a portion of its second sizeable cash settlement in a combined massive lawsuit against several pipe manufacturing companies this year, City Attorney John Noonan reported Monday.

Noonan said the California State Attorney General's office has reported settlement with American Pipe and Constuction Company, the last defendant in the suit brought against pipe companies under the federal antitrust laws by the states of California, Oregon, Washington and Hawaii, and individual counties and cities within the states.

Scores of western counties and municipalities purchasing pipe during the 14-year-period between 1950 and 1963 were involved in the suit as the Western Associated Pipe Plaintiffs Organization.

Six pipe manufacturing companies agreed to a cash settlement in the suit, which involved allegations of price-fixing, in 1967.

The settlement reached with American Pipe and Construction Company calls for payment of $8.5 million to the plaintiffs, known as WAPPO, over a five-year period.

Payment will be prorated on the basis of the amount of business done with the pipe company by each of the participating plaintiffs, Noonan said, and the amount to be awarded South San Francisco has not been determined.

However, the settlement from American Pipe is expected to exceed the amount paid the city by the six defendants in the 1967 agreement, Noonan said. That settlement netted the city approximately $5,000.

In the earlier settlement, several other San Mateo County cities and the county itself received sizable payments.

Noonan and South San Francisco Mayor Frank Bertucelli commended the attorney general's staff for a "job well done" in the lawsuit Monday.

Arsonists Firebomb Home Of S.M. College Official

By JOHN HORGAN

The hillside home in West San Mateo of a College of San Mateo administrator, Philip C. Garlington, was firebombed by arsonists early Tuesday.

Garlington and his wife, who had retired earlier, were not injured.

An estimated $20,000 damage was done to the split-level residence at 15 Wildwood Drive, and its contents. Two automobiles were destroyed.

The fire came less than a day after the peaceful spring term opening of the hitherto violence-ridden San Mateo campus. It marked the second serious incident involving an official of the Junior College District. Last week, the former San Mateo home of Trustee Carl Ward was fired at five times by a gunman who apparently thought Ward still lived there.

Police have been keeping watch over the homes of the five trustees.

Garlington is the new president of still-to-be-completed Skyline College in San Bruno, and is the former dean of instruction at CSM. He held the latter post until two weeks ago.

In today's incident, Garlington told San Mateo police he heard a noise sometime after midnight and went outside to see what it was. He found nothing.

Walking back inside the house, he went downstairs to the garage and was met by an explosion which engulfed both 1967-model automobiles which were parked inside.

The cars were reduced to charred shells during the ensuing blaze.

Police, summoned to the scene at 12:57 a.m., called the fire department.

Firemen found much of the lower portion of the home involved in flames and some of the upper parts burning.

Garlington told officers that he is not sure what noise he heard prior to the discovery of the fire. but thought it was the sound of breaking glass. His garage has glass windows which were shattered during the fire. It is thought that the firebomb was tossed through those windows and into the garage. There might have been more than one bomb.

The fire inside the garage apparently ruptured the gasoline tank of one of Garlington's autos, causing the explosion that greeted the administrator as he walked downstairs.

Most serious damage to the house itself occurred to the ga- (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

Firemen's Act Has No Effect

A decision by Daly City firemen to turn in their "home radios" last week will have "no effect at all" upon the level of fire protection service in the community, according to City Manager Ed Frank.

Frank and other city officials have refused to comment upon the firemen's unanimous vote to turn in the receiver sets, except to confirm the fact that the radios were "requested by the men, and distributed on a voluntary basis." They refused to say what the sets cost.

The radios were purchased primarily with the city's volunteer firemen in mind, according to department spokesmen, and were turned over to regular firemen only after surplus occurred.

San Bruno C-C To Seat Staff

Philip Garlington Sr., president of Skyline College in San Bruno, will be the installing officer at the nineteenth annual San Bruno Chamber of Commerce installation dinner-dance at Green Hills Country Club Saturday.

Chamber executive Larry Mobley said Garlington would confer the "GIISB degree" (Get Involved in San Bruno) on 1969 officers and directors following the 7 p.m. dinner.

San Bruno real estate man Harold H. Highsmith will be seated as president of the chamber. Vice president-elect is James Holderby, Bank of California manager. Photographer Richard Stagg will become treasurer.

In addition to the three officers, five newly elected and five incumbent directors will take their seats on the 20-man Board of Directors.

Mobley said that unit's first activity will be next Tuesday, when president Highsmith submits committee appointments for confirmation.

The San Bruno chamber's program of work theme, "Get Involved in San Bruno," will be the motif for the installation ceremonies.

Master of ceremonies will be councilman Karney Barberian. Mobley will present special awards.

He joined Bank of America in 1948, and has also held responsible positions at branches in Merced, Paso Robles, San Francisco and Sacramento.

Over the years, Maytubby has been active in community and civic life. He is president of the Half Moon Bay Lions Club, and past president of the Chamber of Commerce.

He and his wife, Maurine, and their two children reside in Half Moon Bay.

Thefts Told In South S.F.

A box containing automobile mechanic's tools and $65 in cash were taken from the Bay Area Drum Company office on South Canal Street in South San Francisco in a burglary sometime over the weekend, police reported.

Entrance to the office building was gained through prying open the front door.

A tape recorder valued at $85 was taken from a construction shack in the same vicnity Saturday or Sunday, police said.

The tape recorder, taken from a site at South Spruce and Canal, belonged to construction superintendent Paul Lashbrook.

loose at Point Reyes, 65 miles away, he said.

The falcon's great value results from the fact that birds of prey do not ordinarily reproduce in captivity, Gammon said.

This particular bird was captured from a nest by the owner half-way up the face of a 500-foot cliff in northern California.

It is literally "irreplaceable," according to the falconer.

"A new state game law which went into effect January 1 prohibits the taking of California prairie falcons," he said.

Tan and white in color, the bird weighs 34 ounces and has a 42-inch wingspread.

Though it will not attack humans, it is "very wary of people," according to the owner.

Gammon is offering a reward for the bird's return.

Subject Of Sermon Is Announced

The sermon subject will be "Christian Confidence" at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday worship services of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City.

The pastor, the Rev. Herbert Tweedie, will be preaching with the minister assistant, the Rev. Aaron Miller, participating in the service.

New officers will be installed on the 12-member Board of Deacons at the 11 o'clock service. These are Ruth Boasley, Dorothy Spratt, Ruth Jones and Mabs Guz. Continuing board members are Leah Fouse, Bea Hicks, Dollie Lawson, Jennie Sommers, Bunny Gillespie, Betty Hart, Pauline Scaduto and Beth Daniels.

Retiring from the board are Kay Mattson, Jean Suenderman, Mary MacRitchie and Ruth Moseley, the latter being re-elected.

The Board of Deacons takes care of the church activities in the areas of fellowship, welfare, relief, calling and service projects in the congregation and community.

Two Sunday Schools are held at 9:30 and 11 a.m. with a coffee time for everyone is provided from 10:30 to 11 a.m.

Infant care is provided during the morning hours.

On Sunday evening, junior high and high school meetings are held at 7.

are unhappy with your decision."

Ahern stated, in fact, that he feels "good planning is that which pleases the majority of the people."

In defense of the commission's position, and the concepts of modern urban planning in general, Pass said the planners acted "with a view to the good of the entire community, not just the residents of Sunshine Gardens."

"We must also take into consideration the future residents of South San Francisco in deciding on these matters," the planner said.

Pass pointed out that the unclassified zoning would actually give the city greater control over development of the parcel than would R-3 zoning, because any development would first have to be approved by the commission and the council under the use permit procedure under "U" zoning.

He also said leaving the parcel under the present "R-1" (single family residential) classification would "in effect leave it vacant because it cannot be properly and profitably developed as R-1."

rage and the bedroom wing, including the master bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. Garlington.

Assistant Fire Chief David Lochner declared, "The fire was wide open when we got there." He and his squad of 14 men spent about ten minutes getting the blaze under control, and then worked for another three hours cleaning and securing the area.

Chief Lochner added that the fire "had to be" a case of arson because of the nature of the explosion in the garage although no physical evidence could be found as of early this morning. Officials said the firebomb appeared to have been touched off "by some sort of delayed device."

He said that some of his men suffered smoke inhalation, but there were no serious injuries.

Police questioned several persons near the scene of the fire and, according to one of Garlington's neighbors, a sports car with perhaps one or two persons in it was seen near the victim's home at about the time of the fire.

A youth on a motorcycle was last questioned, but it was determined that he had nothing to do with the blaze.

College public information director John Hubbard said that the outbreaks of violence against officials would have "no effect" on negotiations now under way at the school between the administration and dissident minority groups and the College Readiness Program.

Gambling Ruin Told to Judge

A story of how pyramiding gambling losses threatened a happy marriage and led to the prospect of suicide has been told by a young San Bruno man who is serving 60 days in county jail for embezzlement.

Steven O. Kallio, 25, formerly of 164 Santa Lucia Avenue, told his story in a probation report filed with Superior Judge Allison M. Rouse. He related how, in November of 1967, he was named manager of the Pacific Finance Corporation office in San Bruno after only 17 months with the firm.

"Things couldn't have been better, "Kallio told Probation Officer T. G. Anderson. "I was happily married, successful at my chosen career and was financially secure."

Kallio said he was debt free, had a new daughter, drove a paid-for late-model car, lived in a well-furnished home and had $3,500 in the bank. Then he started playing cards in a pool-hall cardroom "because I thought it was fun." At first he played only for small stakes. Then, one day, he got in a no-limit game. "That was the beginning of the end," he said. He started to withdraw from his savings account.

"I kept telling myself that I wanted to quit," Kallio said, "but I had to get even first."

He continued to lose and by May of 1968 his savings were gone — and his wife didn't know. Then Kallio related, he made "one last try" to recoup his losses, using his company's money. He lost again. So he got in a "really big game" and ended up owing $5,000 to the other players. He cashed two unauthorized company checks for that amount, paid half to the gamblers and took the remaining $2,500 to Las Vegas in a desperate try to win back what he had lost. He lost everything. Kallio said he considered suicide at that point but decided to return to San Bruno and "face the music."

Judge Rouse placed Kallio on probation for five years and ordered him to repay the company $13,892. Kallio told Anderson that when he completes his jail term he plans to rejoin his wife, a dietitian, in Omaha, and that the two of them, working together, will repay the debt at the rate of $250 a month.

SSF Man Beaten, Robbed In His Home by Bandits

A South San Francisco man was "savagely beaten" with a steel prying tool and robbed in his home last Wednesday.

Jose Bess, 37, of 138 Clay Avenue, a longshoreman, was rushed to Kaiser Hospital after police found him semi-conscious and "covered with blood" on the floor of his living room about 10:30 p.m.

Bess is in "serious" condition at Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco, where he was taken after treatment at a local hospital.

Police said Bess was attacked by two men when he entered his house about 9:45 p.m.

The attack occurred in a darkened upstairs room of the house, and the victim was unable to describe his attackers, except to state they were both Negro male adults, officers said.

After beating Bess with the steel bar until he was unconscious, the men removed his wallet, which contained an unknown amount of cash.

When the robbers left, Bess telephoned a San Francisco operator and attempted to give his name and address, but his words were unintelligible, police said.

About 45 minutes after the robbery occurred the telephone company traced the call to Bess's home, where the phone was still off the receiver.

Police said Bess received "numerous wounds" in the attack, and the case is listed as attempted homicide.

About 11:30 last night, another man was beaten and robbed while sitting in his automobile outside a Grand Avenue liquor store.

The suspects in this robbery were also described as Negro male adults.

Police said Fernando Trinidad, 22, of 1040 Crestwood Drive, was attacked when he returned to his car after purchasing a soft drink at a liquor store in the 300 block of Grand.

After Trinidad entered his car, a man got in beside him and brandished a pistol. The robber ordered the victim to drive down Grand and turn onto Maple.

After stopping the car on Maple, Trinidad grabbed the gun in the hand of the robber, and the suspect called out for help from another man named "Jim" who was standing on the sidewalk.

The second man struck Trinidad with a tire tool, and the pair escaped with the contents of his wallet, about $10.

The suspects were described as neatly dressed Negro men in their early twenties.

Women's Attacker Gets Mental Check

Michael Edward Apodaca, an admitted Daly City rapist, was adjudged a "mentally disordered sex offender" Thursday.

Superior Judge Conrad B. Reisch, who had previously suspended criminal proceedings, made the finding on the basis of psychiatric reports. He committed Apodaca, a 22-year-old San Francisco sausage maker, to the state hospital at Atascadero for psychiatric observation and evaluation not to exceed 90 days. The findings of doctors there will help the court decide whether the defendant should be kept in a hospital or sent to prison.

Apodaca pleaded guilty to the forcible rape last June 26 of a 43-year-old Daly City woman.

"I felt like I didn't know what I was doing," he told Probation Officer P. A. Tye. "Afterwards, I felt like waking up from a dream."

Apodaca was not identified following the June incident, in which he pushed his way into an east side home and held a large hunting knife against the neck of the victim while he raped her.

Tye said on November 11 Apodaca accosted a 22-year-old woman on Hillside Boulevard in Daly City, threatened her with a knife and demanded that she go with him. A truck passed at that moment, however, and he was scared off.

Later that same day, Tye reported, Apodaca broke into a Hillside Boulevard apartment and, still wielding his knife, tore the clothes off of a 27-year-old woman. He was deterred from raping her, however, the officer said, by the screams of the victim's son and her own pleas.

Immediately after Apodaca left the apartment the victim drew a sketch of his face. The sketch was published in The Times and circulated widely throughout the area by police. Apodaca was arrested two weeks later when an apartment house owner recognized the drawing. The defendant had inquired about renting an apartment and had left his name and address.

S.S.F. Man Injured

A young South San Francisco man suffered a fractured wrist early Wednesday when his car ran into the rear of another auto on the Airport Boulevard off-ramp from the southbound lanes of Bayshore Freeway.

Taken to Peninsula Hospital was Robert Garcia, 20, of 322 Grand Avenue, a longshoreman. A passenger in the vehicle, Mrs. Victoria Garcia, 43, of Sa Francisco, was treated for cuts of both legs.

Highway patrolmen said the mishap occirred at 2:20 a.m. Garcia told officers that the brakes failed when he entered the off-ramp. He managed to swerve around one car, Garcia said, before his car ran into a vehicle halted at a stop sign.

Patrolmen said that the other driver, Thomas Wolter, 30, of 515 Lucerne Street, Redwood City, was not hurt.

Budget Of HRC Is Discussed

A $54,646 budget for the first full year of operation of the County Human Relations Commission was debated by the group Thursday.

Two members, Harry Bremond and Harryette Rucker, said the commission should decide on a program for the year before taking action on a budget. The newly-created commission is still getting organized and its executive director, James Forrest, reported for work only yesterday.

George Riley, who had been the acting director, said it was ncessary, however, for him to submit a budget, even though no program had been worked out, to meet the county's schedule. The budget, to cover the operations of the commission for the fiscal year starting July 1 is for the most part an extension of the $19,076 budget approved for the first eight months of the group's existence. New items include $10,084 for a research and information specialist, and $8,292 for an employment specialist.

Bremond and Mrs. Rucker said they would not know whether they wanted those positions filled until the commission had taken action on a work program.

Forrest was asked to submit a program proposal at the next meeting of the group January 16, at which time the budget will be discussed further.

Chairman Frank Spadarella appointed six standing committees.

Education — The Rev. Charles Arnold of Pacifican Jose Puentes of San Bruno, William Enomoto of Atherton, Miss Doris Dean of Redwood City and Mrs. Rucker of San Mateo.

Housing — Stuart Leeb of Portola Valley, Robert L. Stamper of East Palo Alto, Miss Dean, Bremond of East Palo Alto and Edward Morgan of Daly City.

Police-Community Relations — Kenneth O. Strom of Pacifica, Mrs. Rucker, Enomoto, David J. Friedenberg of South San Francisco, Stamper.

Employment — Mrs. Lillian Meadows of East Palo Alto, the Rev. Arnold, Leeb, Spadarella of Daly City and Bremond.

Communications — Mrs. Phyllis Blum of Portola Valley, Dr. Robert Bullock of San Mateo, Spadarella, Friedenberg and Morgan.

Inter-group Advisory — Dr. Bullock, Mrs. Blumn Puentes, Mrs. Meadows and Strom.

Spadarella designated Leeb as the commission's representative on the advisory committee to the Workable Program, a program designed to upgrade housing conditions in the county.

Jeff Elementary District Continues Fight for Space

By DON GRIERSON

Officials of Daly City's Jefferson Elementary School District are continuing their efforts to have the "square footage formula" utilized by the State Allocations Board in distributing school building funds revised or "replaced with a more equitable formula."

Representatives from the district appeared before the state board virtually every month during the last half of 1968, and have also appealed to legislators for assistance in obtaining funds for the proposed new Savage Intermediate School.

According to Supt. Frank Greenwood and members of the JESD Board of Trustees, the district is unable to obtain an estimated $1.7 million in state funds needed to complete the project because of the "archaic" allocations system which has been in effect since 1945.

In a recent appeal to the allocations board and legislators, Greenwood urged establishment of a provision to allow the board to deviate from the system "when it is clearly demonstrated that such deviation is necessary to meet unusual and atypical conditions within a given school district."

The Daly City educators are appealing for an allocation of funds "on the basis of program, rather than the square footage formula."

According to the superintendent, the district's problems came about because the state has authorized "more programs than funds to provide housing for the programs."

"In our district next year we qualify for 42 remedial reading teachers under the Miller-Unruh Reading Act, and we will have only 12," he said. "We have not hired the others because we have no room for them to work."

Local ofifcials maintain the square footage formula for housing school facilities is "unrealistic" because of the addition of many such special programs in the years since 1945.

Under the existing formula, the Jefferson Elementary District does not qualify for any further classroom construction this year, yet "there is not a single empty classroom," Greenwood said.

Unless the allocation for the new intermediate school is forthcoming, there is a definite likelihood that some district students will be placed upon double sessions and some libraries will be closed to make room for expanding enrollment, according to the superintendent.

The State Department of General Services provided $897,750 for purchase of the 20-acre school site in 1964. Another $573,874 was spent on improving the site in 1967, and $104,563 for pre-planning of the building construction, placing the total state investment at $1,567,187.

JESD officials have proposed placing all the district's sixth, seventh and eighth grade students in the new school and in two existing intermediate schools. This would enable the ditrict to make facilities available at each of the elementary schools for purposes such as remedial reading, classes for the educationally handicapped and emotionally disturbed chilren, and libraries.

Though deviation from the square footage formula in favor of allocation on the basis of "program" would represent a precedent in the state, deviations have been allowed in the past for other purposes, according to Greenwood.

The board has "forgiven" square footage for such purposes as housing for teachers, housing nursery and pre-school children, in instances of unification and reorganization of districts, and in cases involving structural inadequacy.

The JESD proposal is currently before the allocations board, but district officials said they do not know when a decision will be reached.

LOUANNE HEATH'S DATEBOOK

Many Folks Still Off Stride

By LOUANNE HEATH

THE MIDWEEK holiday seems to have thrown everyone a little off stride, temporarily we hope, but until the post holiday doldrums have passed, soday duldrums have passed, social news is a little on the scant side.

While the women of the Westlake Catholic Women in the Our Lady of Mercy parish are putting together the plans for their annual fashion show, now calendared for less than a month from this date, the members of the parish festival committee are turning their attention to something a little more eminent.

On January 24 the thirteenth annual Stag Crab Chiappino dinner will be staged in the parish hall beginning at 6:30 p.m.

This pre-festival event for the parish men takes into account that the ladies may enjoy an evening dining on someone else's dishes and so, even though they will not be among the company in the hall, everyone in the community with a yen for Chiappino may arrange for Crab Chiappino in their homes by calling Charles Santuccio and ordering take-home dinners.

Whether you will be dining at home or at the church the price per person will be $3 and reservations should be made now by calling Santuccio at 755-3663. If you are making reservations for take-out servings plan to be available to pick up your order between 5 and 6:30 p.m. on the evening on January 24.

THE SUDDEN ILLNESS of Mrs. John Madrosen's mother brought an abrupt halt to the holiday joy in the Madrosen's Westlake home.

MR. AND MRS. DON McKENZIE of Westlake entertained friends from Concord on Christmas Day.

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL KRANER and daughters are home again after spending a portion of the holiday season in Rio Nido.

THE BETA SIGMA PHI chapters constituting the City Council of Pacifica have announced that their annual Valentine Ball will be held on February 8 in the South San Francisco Elks Club.

MRS. BEVERLY MANNINA reports that the ball will be highlighted by the crowning of a Valentine Queen.

ABSENT from her accustomed place in the Westlake Stationers this past week was Mrs. Edith Lawrence who was a victim of the assorted viruses which are currently making the rounds. Also downed was Mrs. Denise Vick from Al Belotz's office.

TOM DOOLEY, one of the 1968 Olympic competitors, was one of the walking division judges at last Saturday's All American Games at Daly City's Cow Palace.

THE NEW officers of the Westlake Merchants Association will preside over the term's first general meeting and dinner next Wednesday evening at International Joe's in the Skyline Shopping Center.

Merchants are urged to pick up their dinner reservations no later today in the Westlake branch of the Bank of America.

Officers for the new term are Saul Babich of Pauson's, president; William Lambert of The Fashion, vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Martin of H. Liebes, secretary; Lou Gazzano, new manager of the Westlake Branch of the Bank of America, treasurer; Solly Orloff, of Seymour's Paints, chairman of the board of directors; and Don Davis of Penney's, the advertising committee chairman.

Wednesday's dinner will get underway with a no-host cocktail party at 6:30 p.m. Dinner will be served at 7:30 o'clock.

"OUR CRYSTAL YEAR" is the theme of the Westlake Catholic Women's 15th annual fashion show and luncheon to be held February 1 in the Grand Ballroom of the Fairmont Hotel. Above are committee members, Mrs. Howard Poblitz, Mrs. Frank Lawson and Mrs. Victor Sariotti (left to right). Mrs. Poblitz is in charge of reservations. Proceeds of the show benefit Our Lady of Mercy Building Fund.

Teen Activities Resume in Pacifica; New Dance Classes Being Offered

Teen Co-Rec, sponsored by the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department, will resume at Oceana Gym today from 7 to 9 p.m. and at Terra Nova Gym on Thursday night from 7 to 9 p.m.

Highlights of the evening during Co-Rec will include basketball, volleyball, badminton, and the possibility of a surprise band.

The J-Teens will open the New Year with a dance at Oddstad School on Friday, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The sounds for the evening will be provided by "Blue Flack," led by Ed Thomas.

The night will be devoted to a membership drive, with any new member joining for $1 (with picture).

Members will pay 75 cents, with J-Teen card.

The Los Pacificans, a senior citizens group sponsored by the Park, Beach and Recreation Department opened the New Year with a bang on Tuesday, at Oddstad Park. Highlights of the New Year included dancing, arts and crafts, trips and surprises.

Cha-Cha, Swing and Rock lessons will be included in the new dance class being sponsored by the department.

The 6-week course will cover the basic steps of each of these dances.

"Latin Rock" will be held Wednesdays from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. at Linda Mar School starting January 15. Registration is being taken at the Park, Beach and Recreation Department office. Fee for the 6-week course is $10 a couple.

Tot Program Readied By San Bruno

Starting next week, the City of San Bruno Recreation Department will be starting its winter tot session for San Bruno children. Classes will meet twice weekly for five weeks on the following days and times:

Monday and Wednesday, 9:30-10:30 a.m.; Monday and Wednesday, 11-12 p.m.; Monday and Wednesday, 1-2 p.m.

Children must be between the ages of 3 years and 9 months to 5 years old to be enrolled. Registration fee is $5 and classes are limited to 30 children per class.

Classes will be planned around various theme weeks, which will include activities such as: arts and crafts, singing, marching, low organized games, simple stunts and special events.

Registrations are being taken this week from 10 a.m.-5 p.m. at the San Bruno War Memorial Recreation Center building.

Meeting Of Catholic Women Set

The Westlake Catholic Women will meet January 13 in the parish hall, following 8 p.m. devotions to Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

Mrs. Elwin Short will preside.

Mrs. Frank Lawson, chairman of the WCW 15th annual fashion show and luncheon, will give a progress report on the February 1 event. Models for the show will be introduced at the meeting.

Rummage chairman, Mrs. Francis Curry, requests members to bring rummage to the meeting.

Mrs. James Kelleher, hospitality chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. David Gallagher, Mrs. Henry Lindner, Mrs. Floyd Osborn and Mrs. John Sullivan, hostesses for the evening.

Exercise Class For Housewives

The Daly City Recreation Department's morning exercise class for housewives resumed yesterday.

The group meets each Tuesday and Thursday morning from 10 to noon at the War Memorial Community Center, 6655 Mission St.

Plain Cooking For Recovery

GOOD MORNING, good cooks.

Since we are still recovering from the fun and excitement of Christmas and from the fine and fancy food we indulged in during that happy holiday, let's continue with some plain cooking. And one of the easiest types of plain cooking is 'en casserole.

I have some delicious dishes of this variety to share today.

This first is quite easy to make and makes a large quantity, plus that it's rather inexpensive. Need I say more?

RICE 'N' SAUSAGE DELIGHT
2 lbs. link sausage, cut in pieces
1 onion, chopped
2 tbsp. green pepper
8 stalks celery, cut small
6 cups water
2 pkgs. dried chicken noodle soup mix
¾ cup rice
1 large can sliced mushrooms
¼ cup slivered almonds

Cut the two pounds sausage into bite size, brown in large skillet.

When sausage is nicely browned, remove from skillet and pour off most the grease. Add the one chopped onion, two tablespoons green pepper and cut celery to the small amount of grease and cook until tender.

Bring the six cups of water to a boil, add the two packages of dried soup and the three-fourths cup rice. Cook 15 minutes or until rice is tender. Combine the cooked sausage, vegetables and the soup and rice mixture, add the one can mushrooms. Place in a large casserole and top with the one-fourth cup slivered almonds. Bake in 350-degree oven 30 minutes, or until bubbling hot.

This next casserole uses rice too and has all sorts of tasty extras. This also makes a large casserole and the chow mein noodles really top it off in a tasty and attractive manner.

AMERICAN CHOP SUEY
1 lb. ground beef
2 tbsp. butter
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup celery, cut fairly small
1 small can mushrooms, drained and cut up
2 tbsp. soy sauce
1 can cream of mushroom soup, undiluted
1 can chicken and rice soup, undiluted
¾ cup minute rice
¾ cup water
1 can bean sprouts, well-drained
1 large can chow mein noodles

Brown the one pound ground beef in the two tablespoons butter, add the one-half cup chopped onion, one cup celery and cook until tender. Add the one can drained mushrooms, blend well and stir in the two tablespoons soy sauce and the undiluted cans of mushroom soup and chicken rice soup. Cook the three-fourths cup minute rice in the three-fourths cup water. Add to the meat-soup mixture and lastly add the one can well-drained bean sprouts. Pour into large casserole and bake one hour in 350-degree oven.

During the last half hour of cooking top with the chow mein noodles.

So far in our casseroles we've used sausage in one and ground beef and bean sprouts in the other. Since we've started thinking about casseroles, we might as well continue on this line of cooking.

This next casserole uses salmon as it's main ingredient, combined with a rice white sauce and noodles.

SALMON NOODLE CASSEROLE
1 pound can salmon
2 cups medium white sauce
1 small pkg. egg noodles
½ cup cracker or bread crumbs
2 tbsp. butter
Salt and pepper to taste

Drain the one can salmon and break into flakes with fork. Heat the flaked salmon in white sauce. Cook the egg noodles in boiling water. Drain and pour into buttered casserole dish. Cover with the creamed salmon. Salt and pepper to taste. Top with the one-half cup bread crumbs and dot with the two tablespoons butter. Place in 375-degree oven for 15 minutes or until crumbs are nicely browned.

MEDIUM WHITE SAUCE
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Melt the two tablespoons butter in small sauce pan, blend in the two tablespoons flour until smooth. Add the one cup milk gradually, stirring constantly until boiling point is reached. Reduce heat and cook for three minutes longer; add the one-fourth teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper and blend.

In case you are in the mood for fish and prefer tuna fish to salmon, here is a casserole that should fill the bill.

SCALLOPED POTATOES WITH TUNA
4 medium potatoes
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¾ teaspoon salt
a dash of pepper
1 7-ounce can chunk tuna, flaked
½ cup onions, thinly sliced

Peel the four potatoes and steam in two-thirds cup water for 15 minutes. Drain and cool, reserving potato water.

Add to the potato water enough milk to make two cups. Melt the two tablespoons butter and add the two tablespoons flour, blend until smooth. Add the one teaspoon dry mustard, three-fourths teaspoon salt and dash of pepper. Add milk all at once and stir until smooth. Bring to boil, stirring constantly.

In two quart casserole, lightly buttered, arrange thinly sliced potatoes in alternate layers with the flaked tuna and one-half cup sliced onions. Pour sauce over all. Bake covered in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Remove cover and continue baking 10 to 15 minutes longer, or until lightly browned.

'Candy' Rates R for Raunchy

It's not surprising that Terry Southern's book, "Candy" was bought for the films. We can expect that of the best and worst of literature these days, now that script writers are at a premium.

But the real surprise to the film I saw last night at the Hillsdale Cinema is that although Buck Henry who scripted "The Graduate," readied the book, he didn't take the opportunity to write a funny satire. And shock number two is that it got an R rating. That must stand for Raunchy, which is putting it mildly.

"Candy" on the screen is a colossal vulgarization of good talent, namely Ringo Starr, Marlon Brando, Richard Burton and Walter Matthau. It is also a stupid, stupid (might I indulge in another) stupid travesty.

It might have made a satirical fantasy, or a hilarious spoof. But the boredom it illicites is overwhelming. And funny, it is not.

EWA AULIN IS A DELECTABLE FEMALE, part Lolita, part Marilyn Monroe, part Carrol Baker. She's all sweetness and innocence. Quite a feat considering she gets seduced by almost every male in the picture, and spends as much time in the nude as in the micro-mini they keep ripping off her.

Aside from some horrendously sickening scenes (those where James Coburn performs a lobotomy to a black-tie, formally attired gallery of cheering onlookers) there are the ultimate tasteless racial and ethnic insults. In other words, something to offend everyone, and then some.

Each star performer has his prolonged cameo but none succeed in rising above the banal material except Brando as a Guru who can't unlock his feet from the lotus position. His flair for comedy almost gleams through, only to be blotted out by ponderous direction by Frenchman, Christian Marquand.

Charles Aznavour and Sugar Ray Robinson try their luck at the bag of tricks offered them in the script, as does Walter Huston, who, too, effectively plays a dirty lecherous old man.

AN ARTFULLY PRODUCED smutty film. If that sounds corny, it isn't a third as pretentious a remark as "Candy" is a smutty embarrassing film. Matthau zeros in effectively as a pompous paratroop general who has kept his crew circling in the air for six years in case of eventual attack. But the lampoon misfires, as do all the other potentially comic segments, due to ragged editing, and a tedious absence of wit.

It's a pretty sick movie but could have been funny, in spite of it. Even a broad sense of camp might have helped. I can forgive anything, but two hours of boredom and stupidity.

Lynne McCoy

Denise Frary

Virginia Sharp

One Will Be 'Queen of the Ball'

Lynne McCoy, Denise Frary, and Virginia Sharp are the three candidates for the Queen of the third annual Beta Sigma Phi Valentine Ball February 8.

The women represent three Pacifica chapters of Beta Sigma Phi: Xi Lamba Phi, Tau Gamma and Alpha Alpha Omicron.

The event will be held at the South San Francisco Elks Club.

Denise Frary and her husband, John, live in Linda Mar with their two children, Annette and John Paul. Denise has been in Tau Gamma three years and has been recording secretary, treasurer and is now vice president of Tau Gamma and corresponding secretary for city council.

She has been a sorority member for three and a half years, has held the office of recording secretary and is presently social chairman.

Virginia works for Clix Chemical Co., and her hobbies are sewing ,traveling and antique hunting.

Lynne McCoy lives at 152 McKinney Avenue with her husband, Donald, and their two children, Coleen and William.

Prior to being a full time housewife she was a secretary for six years at Castle and Cooke, Inc. in San Francisco.

Lynne joined the Phi Gamha Nu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in San Rafael in 1961 and was its recording secretary.

When the chapter graduated to the higher degree she moved to San Francisco and became a member-at-large.

In 1964 Lynne married and moved to Pacfica, transferring her membership to Alpha Alpha Omicron.

As an active member ofher chapter Lynne has served as council delegate, program chairman, corresponding secretary, and is now treasurer.

JEFFERSON SCENE

A Drive for 'Open' Campus Is Launched for Third Time

By WENDY WOOLERY
Jefferson High

Another attempt to "open" the Jefferson High campus at noon has been launched.

This third attempt is being made by the Student Human Relations Committee.

Under the supervision of Ike McClanahan and headed by President Madlyn Norman, the group has asked principal Ed Cereghino for a meeting between Cereghino and the HRC to discuss the possibility of open campus, on a trial basis.

The first attempt was made two years ago.

A daring walk-out was staged by a sizeable percentage of the student body, and as a result, meetings were announced. However, only one person showed up. Despite this apathy, trustees met with the executive board and told them their individual opinions and the general opinion of the community about open-campus.

The student leaders were told that the residents living near the campus complained extensively about trash, vandalism, etc. The merchants nearby complained along similar lines.

These were the main reasons for maintaining a closed campus at Jeff.

Besides, one member of the trustees stated, your parents would rather know where you are during lunchtime. So it was dropped.

This year another attempt was made by an anonymous group of students to once again open the gates of Jefferson during the lunch hour. Various and sundry petitions were passed around and presumably signed, and marches were planned, but nothing ever happened.

Then, just recently the Human Relations Committee decided to give it a try. Their letter to Principal Cereghino:

"It has been brought to our attention that a large majority of our student body is interested in having open campus on a trial basis.

"If possible, we would like to meet with you to discuss the necessary steps to be taken in preparing for this.

"We feel that our student body is mature enough to accept and respect this responsibility and privilege.

"We would be very interested in meeting with you at your convenience, to learn your opinion and feelings of our plans.

"Any consideration of our plans will be appreciated."

Perhaps with a campus-recognized organization behind it, this open-campus drive might get somewhere.

FOR THE FIRST time at Jeff, the drama of life in the ghetto was brought to the stage.

The play, "That's Life," was written by a student, Lamar Winding, Jr., a senior at Jefferson.

The play gave a bit of education for those who knew little or nothing about the black ghettos of our cities.

The cast was taken mainly from the Black Students' Cultural Organization.

Play Tryouts In Pacifica

The last night of tryouts for Pacifica's Spindrift Players third production is Thursday at Oddated Center at 7:30 p.m.

"The Rainmaker" by Richard Nash, will be directed by Sidney Clark and will open February 28 to run for a three-weekend — six performance — period.

The play is a romantic comedy with a serious side about contemporary America in the Southwest.

Six men and one woman are needed for speaking roles and another 25 or 30 are needed for various technical crews.

HOW TO BUY A GOOD NIGHT'S SLEEP

Are you one of the millions of people who lie in bed at night and can't get to sleep? If you're interested in getting more or better sleep, this advice may help you.

One expert says: Make your bedroom a sanctuary – far from the cares and tensions of the outside world. Choose colors that are personal and liked by both you and your mate. Soft restful colors are usually best in the bedroom since they tend to soothe the remnants of a hard day.

Lighting is another factor, and here's one lighting idea. You might consider installing a night light, with a switch near the bed, for last minute before-bedtime rituals and for getting up in the night — so you won't have to put on a bright light at that time.

And while you're checking out your color scheme and lighting, check the most important item in the room – your bed. A lumpy mattress, an outgrown bed, or even an uncomfortable pillow should be discarded; in fact, these may be the culprits robbing your sleep.

If your bed isn't at least 10 inches longer than you and if it isn't at least 38 inches wide, it's not adequate for healthful, restful sleep. The new king or people-sized beds measure 76 inches in width and 80 to 84 inches in length. The best rule in purchasing bedding is TRY IT BEFORE YOU BUY IT. Come in and visit our TRY-IT bedding department.

Time Again To Enter Beauty Event

HER YEAR'S ENDING — Here's Miss Pacifica, 1968, Aleena Ann Branson, and her court, shortly after her coronation last year. Now city is looking for a 1969 successor. "We want an ambitious girl," says Stan Vander Hule, pageant director.

Who will be Miss Pacifica 1969? Entries for the pageant are being sought starting this week and continuing through the month of January.

Pacifica is proud of its award-winning pageant which last year was pronounced "the best pageant production in the state" by the Miss California Pageant in Santa Cruz. As an official preliminary to the Miss California-Miss America pageants, the City of Pacifica's franchise is unique, in that it is the only city in San Mate County holding a Miss America preliminary.

"Miss America is the ideal American girl," said Stan Vander Hule, executive director of the pageant for the third consecutive year. "She symbolizes the youth of our nation — their dreams, ambitions, and ideals.

"She is the ambitious girl who is interested in furthering her chosen career through higher education and special training. The girl who recognizes the merit of representing her community as an American girl — who would be proud to represent her state or her nation. The girl who appreciates the value of a scholarship to help the family budget, even though college has not been denied her."

Miss America is selected through a series of competitions at the local, state and national level, where beauty, talent, personality, and intellect are the primary requisites.

Entries for the pageant will be accepted during the next 30 days. For information girls should call Mrs. Irma Vander Hule, or contact the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce. To be eligible for competition they must meet the following basic requirements:

1. Contestant must be a resident of Pacifica six months prior to April 26, 1969.

2. Contestant must be single and never have been married, divorced, or had marriage annulled.

3. Contestant must be a high school graduate by Labor Day in the year of competition.

4. Contestant's age on Labor Day in the year of competition shall not be less than 18, nor more than 28 years.

5. A contestant must be of good character and possess poise, personality, intelligence, charm, and beauty of face and figure.

6. A contestant must possess and display talent in a not more than three-minute talent routine. This talent may be singing, dancing, playing a musical instrument, dramatic reading, art display, dress designing, etc., or she may give a maximum three-minute talk on the career she wishes to pursue. "Talent is that inner quality of a young woman, the ability to create a presentation that will portray her and her ambition," Vander Hule said.

"There are many very popular talents the American girl possesses which can be defined as stage talents. "Check the talents of former Miss Americas. You will then understand what they are. Be creative."

The Pacifica Chamber of Commerce annually holds its pageant to bring to the public's attention the personality, beauty, intelligence, talent and ambition of Pacifica High School and college girls who "will shortly become the civic and social leaders of this community" and to provide educational opportunities for the young people of our community, through the annual scholarship program offered by the pageant.

Again this year, the contest will bring statewide and possibly national recognition to Pacifica, sponsors hope.

Miss Pacifica 1969 will compete over statewide color television in the Miss California Pageant in Santa Cruz, carrying the banner of "Pacifica."

Pacifica Firemen Seek Labor Help

Pacifica firemen are seeking support from the San Francisco Labor Council and all organized labor groups in their fight to maintain pay parity with the city's policemen.

Pacifica Fire Fighter's Union President Joseph Bonello said firemen reached a decision at a meeting Friday night to "take legal steps to require the City of Pacifica to have the wage disagreement mediated by an outside mediator, as provided by the California Government Code, unless an equitable agreement can be reached between the fire fighters and the city."

Firemen have also called upon organized labor groups to inform their members who live in Pacifica of the "low pay and lack of equipment and manpower" in the department, and "ask them to voice their disapproval to city officials."

"We have no quarrel with the police department or its members," Bonollo said, "and have the highest respect for Pacifica's policemen.

"Our quarrel is with the decision of the Personnel Advisory Commission that fire fighters are not as important to Pacifica as policemen, and therefore should not be paid as much," he said.

"We are asking that the union members and other Pacifica citiens who support us make their feelings known to the city council."

Members of Pacifica's personnel commission voted unanimously last month to recommend that police department personnel be awarded a 10 per cent pay increase, while recommending an increase of only five per cent for firemen.

Personnel of the two departments currently receive equal pay.

Personnel commissioners recommended the pay differential after an extensive study with "no comment."

In a petition presented to the commission prior to the recommendation, spokesmen for the fire department expressed concern over the possibility of a break in parity, stating such a move would cause serious problems of morale among the city's firemen.

"This would hit most of our men where it hurts the most," Fire Fighters' Union official James Evans said, "in their pride."

The Personnel Advisory Commission recommendation will be considered by the council in the near future but is not expected to be taken up at the next regularly scheduled meeting January 13.

The dispute over pay parity grew out of a study undertaken to consider increasing pay for both police and fire personnel above the general five per cent increase granted all city employes this year.

DEDUCTIONS—Dogs don't pay taxes, but if they did, Lady, a German shepherd who belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bear, 242 Mayfair, Daly City, would be pretty unhappy about her "deductions." Undoubtedly the first "New Year's puppies" in the area, the litter of 13 arrived shortly after midnight New Year's Day. (Post Photo)

Man Burned In Garage

A South San Francisco man was hospitalized with burns on his arms and legs Friday after a can of gasoline burst into flames as he repaired an automobile in the garage of a friend's home.

The house was also heavily damaged in the fire.

Ray Zarri, who was staying in the home of the vacationing Allen Brady family, 586 Parkway, was taken to Peninsula Hospital after the accident occured at 2:30 p.m.

Firemen said Zarri was working on his car when gas fumes in the garage were apparently ignited by a water heater.

He had drained the gasoline from the car, and the can containing the fuel caught fire, authorities said.

Zarri reportedly kicked the can, splashing the burning gasoline onto his legs.

He then tried to back the car out of the garage, and rammed into an abutment in a neighbor's yard, firemen said.

Neighbors put out the balze in the car with a fire extinguisher.

The inside of the garage was gutted by the flames, and smoke damage and scorching was extensive throughout the house, firemen said.

Damage was estimated at $5,000.

Later Friday, another South San Francisco residence was damaged in an identical incident.

Firemen said Victor Hall, 651 Ash Street, was working on a car in the garage of his home when a can of gasoline ignited about 10 p.m.

Two Escape Bruno Jail, Still at Large

Two prisoners who escaped from the San Francisco County Jail in San Bruno Friday morning were still at large today, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Thomas Burns.

The pair, David Swan and George Purdon, both serving sentences for narcotics violations, sawed their way out a window of a kitchen at the jail early Friday with a hacksaw stolen from a contractor's tool chest.

An automobile stolen from a resident of the neighborhood adjacent to the jail has not been recovered, and authorities theorized the two prisoners may have made their escape in the stolen car.

3 Juveniles Picked Up In San Bruno

An off-duty highway patrolman was responsible Sunday for the citation of three juveniles on petty theft charges.

Officer William Davenport, who lives in Millbrae, was driving on Mastick Avenue in San Bruno when he saw one of the three pick up something off the ground and place it beneath his jacket.

The object appeared to be a radio, so Davenport turned around and drove back to the rear of Key Pharmacy, 424 San Mateo Avenue, where he had seen the boys.

He found that the trio, San Bruno police said, had an auto stereo unit in their possession.

Police said the unit was taken from an unlocked car owned by Rusty Martindale of 2081 Whitman Way, San Bruno. The auto had been parked, but not locked.

Two of the youths were from San Bruno; the other from South San Francisco. Two are 15 years old. The other is 14.

3 Held In 'Pot' Arrest

Three young men, two of them from Southern California, were arrested on marijuana possession charges in Daly City Thursday.

Harvy M. Greenlee, 23, of San Bernardino; David E. Grove, 21 of 6065 Crawford Avenue, San Diego; and Wayne Kiloh, 20, of the Templeton Street address.

Kuchel Aide Pete's Field Choice

David C. Niklaus, formerly special assistant to Senator Thomas Kuchel, has been appointed field representative for Congressman "Pete" McCloskey, it was announced today. He will head Congressman McCloskey's field office at 490 El Camino Real, Belmont.

Citing Niklaus' Washington experience, McCloskey said he felt the congressional field office would be able to better serve the residents of San Mateo County.

McCloskey Sets 'Tiptoe' Speech

"Tiptoeing Through the Tidelands" is the provocative title of an address to be delivered Thursday evening January 16 by Congressman Pete McCloskey.

The event is the annual dinner meeting of the San Mateo County Regional Planning Committee to be held this year at the new Coyote Point Yacht Club, dinner chairman Paul Keckley announced yesterday.

Congressman McCloskey's talk is subtitled "Urban Pressure vs. Filling the Bay" and will follow a formal installation of new officers for the county-wide planning organization.

The event begins with a cocktail hour at 6:30 to be followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. Tickets at $5.50 are available from the county planning office. Reservations are required by January 10, Keckley said.

A raffle conducted by Bob Boucher provided members and guests with an assortment of prizes donated by Diana Martyn, Bob and Connie Boucher, in addition to club funds. Marie Duato was recipient of top prize of the day.

The next regular club meeting will be held Wednesday, January 8 at 8 p.m. at the Hillside Recreation Center, South San Francisco.

Anyone interested in information concerning the N.P.O. Club, may call Jim Duato.

New Year's Eve Receipts Are Stolen

Burglars broke into the Golden Coach Restaurant in Pacifica's Fairmont Shopping Center sometime Wednesday morning, and stole receipts from the restaurant's "busiest night of the year."

Police would not divulge the amount taken in the burglary, but it was reportedly "in excess of $2,000."

The money, receipts from a capacity crowd of New Year's Eve revelers, was taken from a register, according to officers.

Entrance to the building was gained through prying open a door on the west side, police said.

About $120 in change was left inside the cash register, along with "two or three loose bills," officers said.

To merit the Showman pin, Webelos perform for their parents. Puppet shows were presented by George Honojos, Edward Ranuio and Leonard Soldanha.

Pacifica Pair Face Trial

Trial of a Pacifica couple on welfare fraud charges was scheduled last week by Municipal Judge Paul Hupf for February 25.

Inspector Jack F. Stuart of the district attorney's office charged that the defendants, Robert E. Willhoit, 38, and Frieda Cunningham, 31, of 615 Canyon Road, drew $6,740 more in welfare aid than they were entitled to receive. They got the money for a 40-month period, Stuart said, by failing to report all of Willhoit's income as a truck driver.

They were receiving aid for five children, Stuart said, on the basis of Willhoit's allegedly inadequate income.

Willhoit and Mrs. Cunningham pleaded not guilty yesterday to eight counts of welfare fraud and Judge Hupf scheduled the jury trial. Both were released on their own recognizance pending trial.

DC Rockhounds Elect Officers

New officers of the Daly City Rockhounds for the year 1969 are:

Dan Fogliasso, president, Robert Parker, vice president, George Gulley, treasurer, Harriet Lee, recording secretary, Shirley Salet, corresponding secretary, and Cherry Twohey, federation director.

An invitation is extended to all to visit the club shop at 200 Crocker Avenue, Daly City, Tuesday through Friday evenings, between the hours of 7 to 9.

Meetings of the group are open to the public and are held on the first and third Monday of each month, 8 p.m., War Memorial Community Center, 6655 Mission Street, Daly City.

Speaker for today's meeting is to be George Strauch of Castro Valley.

The subject matter of his talk will be Australian opal.

Rockhounding has in recent years become one of the most popular of the leisure time hobby interests. This is due to the fact that it embraces so many interesting facets. Intarsia, faceting, cabachon jewelry, mosaics, original silver work and just plain specimen collecting.

Anyone interested in more information about the club or the hobby, may call Shirley Salet in Daly City.

BAR MITZVAH

Howard Harband, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Harband of Daly City, will be Bar Mitzvah at Services on January 17 at the Temple on Brotherhood Way.

Trees Coming To Daly City

The Daly City Council has authorized the purchase of 10,000 seedling trees from the California Division of Forestry for distribution to homeowners and schools. Sometime in January these trees will arrive at the Daly City Corporation Yard for distribution.

The public is invited to participate in this program to beautivy the city, said Arthur W. Reschke, city engineer. Instructions regarding planting and care of the seedlings will be given. The trees must be planted within three days after delivery.

Reschke noted an enthusiastic response to this program is anticipated.

For further details regarding obtaining the trees, call August Conci, park superintendent.

THE LARGEST AND FINEST GIFT SELECTION IN THE BAY AREA

BRIGHT LIGHTS
BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Invitation to Visit Pete's Round Table Pizzas

PETE BRALLIER, "Mr. Pizza" of the Peninsula, invites you to try any of the 15 varieties of pizza (offered in three sizes) served at his Round Table Pizza Parlors (San Mateo, Burlingame and Hillsdale). There is also a selection of sandwiches; beer by the pitcher, or mug, as well as soft drinks. All menu items are also prepared to go. Restaurants are open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 12 midnight, Sunday through Thursday; 11 a.m. to 2 a.m., Friday and Saturday . . . A new menu has been introduced at San Mateo's Fork 'n' Cork restaurant. Featuring 12 entrees, all dinners are served with baked potato and sliced tomatoes, with a choice of soup or salad. . . . A man lunching at Tommy's Joynt in San Francisco told Tommy Harris that the interior of his Joynt was the most colorful of any restaurant he had seen in the U.S. . . . Milt Coniff, who does the Steve Canyon cartoons in the San Francisco Examiner, was a dinner guest at Doros and told Don Dianda it was the best food he had enjoyed in the States.

Pete Brallier

Shirley and William Wong held their big wedding dinner party in the private party room of Lew Lehr's steak house in San Francisco's Marina following their marriage at Lincoln Park Presbyterian Church . . . The Leaning Tower will not be open for business until January 13, the date when remodeling will be finished. The project includes a new kitchen . . . Congratulations to George Rice of San Francisco and Sue Olson of South San Francisco for winning the finals of the dance contest at the Hilton Inn Tiger Room, located at the San Francisco International Airport. Grand prize was an all-expenses paid weekend at the luxurious El Mirador Hilton in Palm Springs. Second prize went to Carol Brown and Wes Connors, both of San Francisco. Emceeing the finals was Disc Jockey Gene Nelson of KSFO Radio . . . Over 200 guests ushered in the New Year at San Mateo's Skylark restaurant. Included in the festivities was a free midnight buffet, compliments of the Bell family, owners of the restaurant. . . .

Lew Lehr

AFTER enjoying a vacation in the Islands, Bob and Dorothy Masuda will reopen the doors of their downtown San Mateo Fuji Sukiyaki restaurant January 9. Welcome home, folks. Let's get the show on the road with those superb Japanese dishes . . . Ted Steiner, the San Mateo jeweler who sells everything from gold toothpicks to alarm clocks, hosted his staff to a happy Holiday party at the Millbrae Thunderbolt Hotel — and a goodly time was had by all . . . A. Sabella's Fisherman's Wharf restaurant excells in sea food favorites, but don't overlook their steaks, which are as tender as a bride's "I Do," and broiled to taste perfection. . . . Woodside's Golden Steer seems to be a mid-day haven for businessmen. During the course of a usual lunchtime, Host Roy Devincenzi greets many of the leading business executives from the deep Peninsula . . . No complaint down Pacifica way, where Nick Gust tends to The Moonraker and Nick's restaurant duties. " '68 was one of the best years in our long history," commented Mayor Gust. "With the outlook of having an additional restaurant in March, '69 should be a banner year."

Bob Masuda

George McCaman, host at the Shadows of San Mateo, who was glued to the telephone Tuesday last, was the one responsible for booking the many dinner reservations that evening, which saw diners being seated in the new Banque Room for the first New Year party . . . Sign on a local garage after the Holidays: "May we have the next dents with you." Considering the New Year's freeway action witnessed by Yours Truly, this garage will be "waltzing" for months to come . . . A favorite family restaurant on the Peninsula is Foster's Original Pancake and Chicken House located across from the Hillsdale Shopping Center. Foster's Muffins with lots of melted butter are "melt in your mouth" pick-me-ups any time of day. Take out or eat in — everything from a full course dinner to buttermilk pancakes. High chairs for children of all ages, comfortable Captain's Chairs for the moms and pops . . . Besides a zesty Mexican fare, Jim Llewellyn's El Patio Mexican restaurant also features several American dishes.

G. McCaman

Laverne Cummings, glamorous chanter at Finocchio's on San Francisco's Broadway, hopes that 1969 will be his big year. He's starting with a new agent and a working contract that takes him to Hollywood every other week for work in a TV series. He'll play a femme impersonator in the story, which has a surprise ending . . . Five portholes, each with a different view of boats on the sea, are a part of the interesting wall decor at Duane Eckert's Cap'ns Cabin. Obviously false, they lend to the nautical atmosphere just the same . . . A new all-time high was set at the Fireside Lounge New Year's Eve. Phil Maltas Topless crew and Mr. Clean and The Uncalled Four really "cleaned up." Entertainment continues on a seven-days-a-week basis, and "Every night is New Year's Eve at the Fireside," says Phil . . . The budget and bargain package of Park Avenue Tours, Lake Tahoe, South Shore, continues its "Fly and Drive Up" specials, with Sahara-Tahoe and Barney's Casino supplying the surprise refunds. Those wishing to take advantage of the daily Greyound Bus departures, contact the nearest depot for information and refunds.

Hospital Work Is Lauded

J. D. Maule, Jr., San Bruno druggist and for 22 years director and treasurer of the Peninsula Hospital District retired Tuesday when he attended his last official meeting of the board of directors. Succeeding Maule is Gus Chagaris, Millbrae resident and South San Francisco accountant, who was recently appointed by the San Mateo Couty Board of Supervisors to fill the vacancy.

Maule, appointed by the county supervisors as a member of the original board of directors when the hospital district was formed in 1947, has been re-elected without opposition five times, in 1948, 1952, 1956, 1960 and 1964. He did not seek re-election in 1966.

Maule became treasurer following the first bond issue for $2,950,000 approved in 1950. "This was the first money we had to take care of," Maule said

Morris A. Cox, president of the board of directors in commending Maule for his long and outstanding service to the district estimated that Maule as a treasurer had handled and been responsible for more than $200 million since founding of the hospital. Funds include four bond issues totalling $12 million for construction and the operating budget which for the past several years has averaged $9 million, largely covered by patient revenues.

Maul said that he has enjoyed the years of volunteer service to the district but feels that it is time for a younger man to take over the job. He expects to continue to take an active part in management of the Maule Drug Co. in San Bruno.

Maule has been active in civic affairs in San Bruno having served as president of the San Bruno Exchange Club which is now the Optimist Club; he served as chairman of the San Bruno Posie Parade in 1945 and has been a member of the board of directors of the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce.

Maule is a member of the San Mateo Elks Lodge, the Peter Yorke Council, Knights of Columnus; Young Men's Institute (50-year member) and St. Bruno's Catholic Church.

Maule and his wife Jane have five adult sons and daughters: J. D. Maule, III, who actively manages the store; Jim, bottling firm executive; Mrs. Jane Nichols, Sacramento, Mrs. Joan Stern, Saratoga and Mrs. Judy Marken, Chico. The Maules have 18 grandchildren.

Urged Again: That Single Regional Set

"The year 1969 will be the 'Year of Decision' for the Bay Area," predicted William A. Roberts, chairman of the San Francisco Bay Area Council, as he issued the council's annual forecast for the bay region.

"The future of the Bay Area will be vitally affected by decisions which are made — or not made — in this crucial year ahead," declared Roberts, who is president of Ampex Corp. as well as chairman of the nine-county civic and economic development organization, representing leadership of business and industry.

"Specific proposals will be before the state legislature for regional organization which is badly needed to coordinate the various regional functions now administered by individual single-purpose district," Roberts pointed out, referring to legislation to be introduced by the joint legislative committee on Bay Area Regional Organization (BARO).

"The time is long overdue," the council chairman stated, "when these areawide functions should be managed by one regional agency which is responsive to the people."

Roberts pointed out that some action will also be taken by the state legislature with respect to some governmental system for administering the bay and transportation functions, now handled by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, respectively, both of which commissions expire in 1969.

It is imperative, he said, that these functions be continued and it is highly desirable that they be managed by the same agency, preferably a multi-purpose regional organization which has the over-all coordinating responsibility for the various regional functions.

He noted that both commissions had expressed a preference that their functions be continued under a multi-purpose agency.

"If wise decisions are not uncoordinated and could be made in 1969 on these regional governmental matters," Roberts warned, "future developments in the Bay Area will be chaotic, thus leading to a general deterioration of the beauty, livability and attractiveness of our beautiful region."

Roberts urged citizens to inform themselves on the proposal of the BARO Committee, under the chairmanship of Assemblyman John Knox of Richmond, and to urge their local state legislators to support the proposals of this committee for regional governmental organization.

Nation's Conscience

(Frank LaPierre is ill, and until he is able to resume his column personally, guest contributors are submitting articles. This week's column is by Frank Spadarella of Daly City, chairman of the San Mateo County Human Relations Commission, who spells out for North County residents the purposes and ambitions that body holds.—Editor.)

"There can be no higher priority for national action and no higher claim on the nation's conscience. To pursue our present course will involve the continuing polarization of the American community and ultimately, the destruction of basic democratic values. The alternative is not blind repression or capitulation to lawlessness. It is the realization of common opportunities for all within a single society."

So said the President's Commission on Civil Disorders, more commonly called the Kerner Commission. In its over 600-page report, the Commission called for new attitudes, new understanding and above all, new will — the will to tax ourselves to the extent necessary to meet the vital needs of our nation.

The Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County had long been aware of the need in our county and had formed the Human Resources Commission in 1965. This group was designed primarily to administer the "War on Poverty" program and it dealt mainly with the problems of the eradication of poverty in the county.

However, this commission soon found that it was unable to deal with the many types of problems in the field of human relations and the need for a county-wide Human Relations Commission continued. Late in 1967 the Board appointed an Ad Hoc Committee on Human Relations to study and define the need of such a commission. This special committee went immediately to work, and in the period of 14 weeks, received letters and testimony from more than 129 people representing municipalities, schools, minority groups, business and labor, taxpayers and other groups and citizens.

In March 1968, the Ad Hoc Committee recommended to the Board of Supervisors that a Human Relations Commission be immediately created and that such a commission would "bring to any discussion of problems involving inter-group relations, the authoritative voice of San Mateo County and that it would be a force to counteract racial prejudice and discrimination."

Supervisors created the Human Relations Commission.

Perhaps the heart of the entire ordinance is the specific charge to the Commission as to its duties, functions and powers:

— To investigate, study and make findings on problems relating to prejudice, discrimination and disorder occasioned thereby in any field of human relations.

— To consult and cooperate with this Board of Supervisors and federal, state, city and local public agencies in developing programs and techniques for achieving harmonious inter-group relations within the County of San Mateo.

— To solicit the cooperation of various racial, religious and ethnic groups, fraternal association and other groups in fostering mutual understanding, respect and good will among all such groups in the county.

— To prepare and disseminate information on problems and programs in the field of human relations.

— To receive, hear and investigate complaints of tensions, practices of discrimination and acts of prejudice against any person or group because of race, religion or ethnic origin, and seek to resolve such matters through consultation and advice.

— To conduct hearings at which testimony is taken under oath, and to issue subpoenas to witnesses upon the approval of two-thirds of the members of the Commission. At any hearing before the Commission a witness shall have the right to be advised by counsel present at the hearing.

— To act as conciliator and mediator upon request of any party to a dispute or controversy within the scope of purposes and functions of the Commission.

— To refer those problems or disputes that are properly within the scope of duties of other public agencies to such agencies.

The term, "Human Relations", is a broad one and could by definition include almost any social situation in which one or a group of human beings come into contact with another individual or group.

Specifically, a Human Relations Commission concerns itself with those aspects of individual and group living that give cause for concern where people of different race, religion, culture, or national origin are involved. It has been said that such a Commission can merely be an effort to push a community's problems under a rug, or to act as a buffer between government and the community, or it can be a sincere, dedicated group of people who are endeavoring to seek and maintain racial harmony throughout the community.

BOB HOOVER'S VIEWS:

What Readiness Program's About

By TOM POWELL

Amid the storm and confusion at College of San Mateo during recent weeks, minority students have keyed all their demands with one statement—"Reinstate Bob Hoover."

Hoover, former director of the now-controversial College Readiness Program, was removed from his post along with assistant director Jean Wirth by the college administration following disturbances on campus December 13. The administration would not comment on reasons for the removal.

Since then, black leaders have been rigid in their protest of the ouster. They say nothing can be accomplished without Hoover's reinstatement. As one black community spokesman said, "Brother Bob is representative of my kids. If he goes, their chances go down. And Hoover speaks tirelessly for his people. He staunchly defends the purposes of the College Readiness Program.

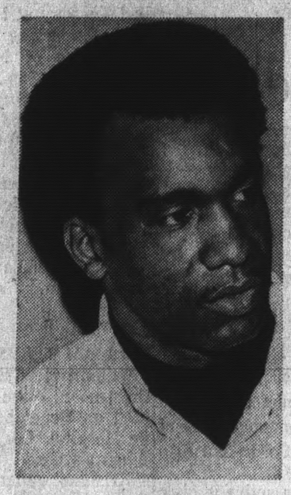
"What this country has done to people of color is allow a small number of them to escape their communities through the educational process," he said. "And then it has dragged them off to the white community once they acquire skills or have some services to offer. So you leave black, brown and yellow communities with vast numbers of people with virtually no leadership, no skills and no resources.

"The College Readiness Program says we must educate more than 10 per cent of the black people in this country—because that's all that has been educated up to this time. We must return those people to their communities where they can share the skills that they have acquired."

Speaking of the difficulties he encountered while director of the CRP, Hoover said limited staff coupled with financial problems "made it almost impossible for us to deal with the large numbers of students.

"If we had eliminated the financial problems in September, I think two of us could have dealt with all the other problems of the students. It got so the financial problems were taking up 70 to 80 per cent of our time. We never really got to deal with many of the other kinds of prtblems that students hve — to make them secure so that they can begin to deal with their own individual hang-ups.

"But these were not insoluble problems. They could have afforded to hire two more people at that school."



Bob Hoover—Nobody Was Listening

He said a committee had been set up to collect funds for the program in order to match a $150,000 federal grant. However, he declared, the Board of Trustees would not authorize a fund-raising drive.

"The board and the administration does not even begin to understand what the program is all about—the kinds of needs that the students in the program have, the kind of counseling that is needed. They don't understand anything about the movement of black people in this country. They don't understand the nature of the black community.

"So the first reaction is fear," he said. "And most of that comes from a lack of understanding."

He added, "There is no reason to believe that the total money available through the federal government and what what can be raised from all kinds of agencies would not be enough to meet the needs of the students."

Hoover has been a willing speaker at assemblies, classes and public meetings. "But it soon became very obvious that nobody was listening," he said. "They say, 'Oh you talk well, you sound good, it makes sense,' but it's very clear that five minutes after I'm gone they've forgotten everything I've said. Except they'll remember that I might have said at the end of a speech: Unless certain things happen there is going to be violence in this country.' That's all they remember. 'Hoover said this. He predicted this.

" 'He predicted it so he must have planned it'."

Hoover emphasized that the Readiness Program "has to be for the 90 per cent who don't escape.

"They say, 'Do we really want that kind of people in college?

"If you're not talking about that kind of people, you're not talking about black people — you're still talking about 10 per cent of us. And all you're saying at that point is we still want to take 10 per cent of you, give you an education, and turn you into black white people, and you can come over here and work for us.

"We can no longer afford that."

To Hoover there are no failures in the Readiness Program. He said he believes that if a student makes it just one or two semesters he may acquire enough confidence to go through a job interview. "Maybe he'll get a little bit of skill—enough to go out and get a job. Perhaps he'll just learn how to control his temper.

"Is that failure?"

The design of the program, he continued, is to inspire a student—to give him confidence.

"The educational system is one of the greatest perpetuators of the myth of white superiority and black inferiority in the whole world.

"It does it with remedial classes, shop courses and all that other junk. They start turning black kids off when they're in the first grade.

"But the black community has a culture. It has a way of talking. It has art. It has music. It doesn't have Bach and Beethoven, but it has James Brown ane Lloyd Price.

"One of the things a kid learns at CSM very early is that he has to become bi-lingual. He has to learn the white language and maintain his own language. In the elementary school the teacher comes in with the idea of changing everything he has. The teacher is saying what you have is useless. It's worthless. It's no good. It' wrong.

And, Hoover insists, "The kid has got to know that you're on his side—and he's got to know that unequivocally. If he goes to jail, you get there at three o'clock in the morning to get him out of jail. If he needs to have his teeth fixed, and comes in and says, 'I got a toothache', you've got to get a dentist to fix his teeth."

The Dreams Go Down the Drain

In this way, Hoover continued, a different kind of value system begins to form "where people are concerned about people.

"In the value system of this country now, when there is a struggle between the dollar and a human being, the human being loses every time."

Hoover does not offer an ultimate direction for minorities. "I don't think there is a concensus among black people what the final solution is going tt be," he declared.

"I think that the one thread that runs through all the positions taken is whatever is done in the communities of people of color is going to have to be done by those people. It has to be done by black people who are educated with skills and concern for their own people.

"I'm not trying to make any plans for all black people in this country. I'm just trying to see that kids get educated so they can become a part of a total solution.

"I can look at a future for East Palo Alto and see 150 to 200 graduates living there as educators, doctors, lawyers, judges or policemen—living there and being active in that community. Just to think of the impact it would have on a kid who is living down the street from a doctor or a lawyer; just to think of the change in an area devold of human skills and services that meet the needs of people.

"But wipe out the Readiness Program ... and all those dreams go right down the drain."

LORENE BEASLEY

(Better Business Bureau)

Customer Relations

NO ONE KNOWS better than the Better Business Bureau that the old adage "The Customer is Always Right" is not true.

Business concerns know this very well, but as a matter of good customer relations they often lean over backward to make the customer believe that he is right.

Sometimes this just isn't in order. Cases in point have been the complaints concerning "excessive" dry cleaning charges applied to the cleaning of leather garments which the local Better Business Bureau staff have been screening.

ALTHOUGH THE Better Business Bureau does not handle these complaints that involve the prices charged the customer; the fit, wearability or durability or merchandise or inefficient operation of appliances in the absence of — or after the expiration of — a written guarantee, it does feel that when an honest misunderstanding exists, action is necessary to clarify the problem.

Many, many complaints received, it is found do not involve wilful mispractice but rather honest misunderstanding. This is the case with regards to the problems involved with the cost of the upkeep of a leather garment.

The new fashion mode for ladies is leather, and during this holiday season a good deal of the gifts purchased were wearing apparel made of leather. Suede garments are trimmed with natural mink, black caracul and Persian lamb. The fair lady is smart in leather suits or suede mini-skirts. Antique leather and Cuir Sauvage is the big news in today's leather garment.

THE ANTIQUED leather refers to a mottled finish in a textured kidskin, with usual soft patina handle. The Cuir Sauvage or Tache' Cour Sauvage is a French term that means stained like a wild animal. The leather, either cow or sheepskin, is stiff, smooth and glazed to a shiny finish.

The cost of the upkeep of a leather or suede garment should be kept in mind by the purchaser. Leather requires individual customer handling which results in a higher cleaning charge than the one normally made for a comparable cloth garment.

Some of the problems faced by the drycleaner account for this higher rate, for the dyes used to achieve fashion colors on leather are often partially or completely removed in cleaning.

Therefore, each garment must be re-dyed and finished to the right shade after dry cleaning. Even after this the leather may seem to have lost a great deal of color and a natural leather dressing will have to be applied. This requires individual customer handling.

SAMUEL CHANDLER'S REVIEW

The Press for California Statehood

WHEN CONGRESS convened 100 years ago, the most pressing issue before it was the admission of California to the union.

One by one the statesmen of the day — among them: Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Jefferson Davis, and Sam Houston — rose to talk of the issues that the proposition presented, especially the balance of slave and non-slave states.

Smith of Indiana reported a bill in the House of Representatives to establish a territorial government for Upper California and nothing for Lower California. Senator Douglas of Illinois proposed to make all the land acquired from Mexico into one huge state. Today that land covers six states. Several senators annd representatives from the South supported a bill that would have made a North California and a South California.

During the debate Senator Benton of Missouri and Senator Foote of Mississippi were verbally at each other's throat, and used every opportunity to indulge in slurring personal remarks.

On April 17, 1850, during a speech by Foote, Benton lost control of himself and in a fit of exasperation pushed his chair violently from him and strode towards Foote. Fortunately Foote preceived the move and drew his pistol, cocked it and waited. Several senators stopped Benton before he could move on his opponent. Then Foote challenged Benton to a duel, but it was not taken up nor pressed. The investigation of this episode delayed the proceedings.

Finally, after more than a year and a half, Senator Henry Clay forged a compromise on the issues that his collegues could accept. On August 13, 1850 the Senate voted to admit California to the union by a vote of 34 to 18; the House passed the bill on September the seventh and the President signed it on September the ninth. California became the thirty-first state to join the union.

Many of the details of the debates may be found in a 1962 publication by Robert G. Cowan. The author calls is An Annotated Bibliography of Congressional Speeches upon the Admission of California.

It begins with a speech made by Senator William Upham on July 26, 1848 and ends with a speech made on September 7, 1850 by Representative Jacob Thompson from Mississippi.

In his speech Senator Upham said he saw no necessity for any haste in passing the bill. In his speech over two years later Representative Thompson said that passage of the bill was hopeless and urged his colleagues to not be in a hurry.

It is interesting to note that Representative Thompson believed that California covered too much territory to be admitted as one state and predicted that "She will be forced to a division before ten years."

The proponents of dividing California proposed that the division be on the 36 degree 30 north latitude. This would have divided the state at a line just north of the line that is the Southern border of Monterey, Kings, Tulare and Inyo Counties.

One of the men who spoke to this proposal was Senator David L. Yulee of Florida. He said the people of Southern California indicate an immaturity of social organization be cause there were more foreigners than native born Californians, and because there was no assurance of permanency among the population and because too few of the people owned any real estate.

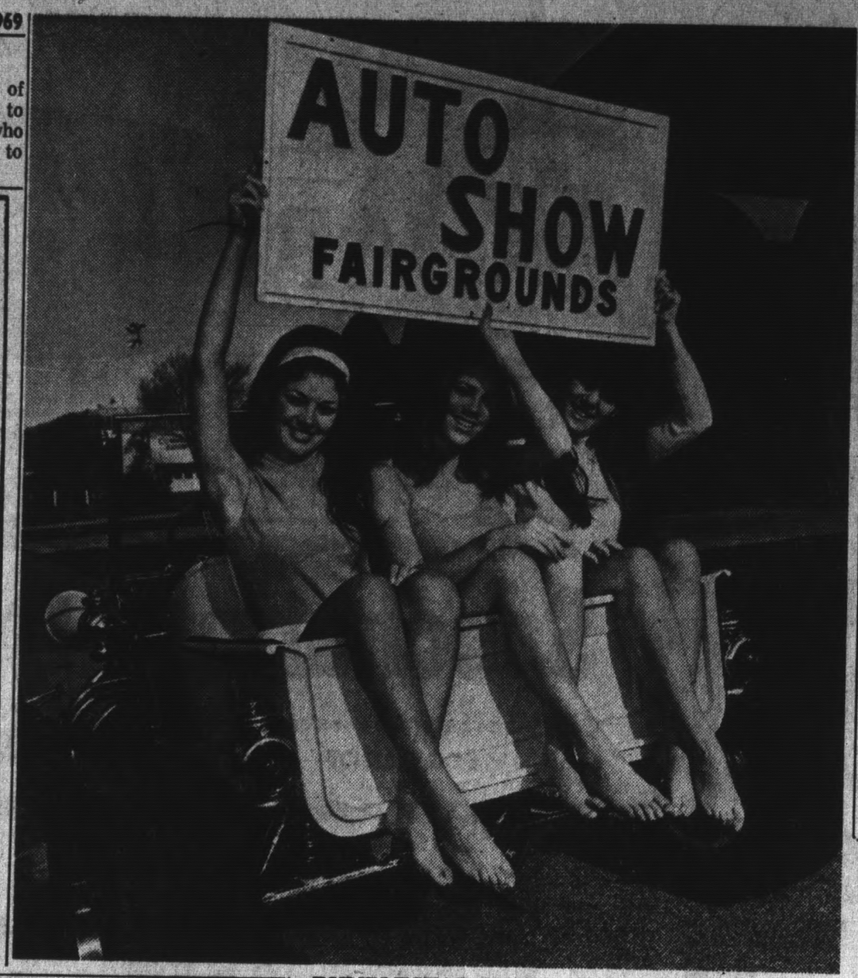
LUMBER FOR EVERY NEED



RUMBLESEAT TRIO — What could be more fun than an open-air drive on a bright winter day on the Peninsula — especially with companions like these? he girls are, left to right, Deborah Henley (Miss San Bruno), Sue Lustenberger (Miss Millbrae), and Pam Meuser, (Miss Burlingame). They're helping promote the 14th annual San Mateo Auto show January 10-12 at the fairgrounds. The $8000 1923 Model "T" Ford they're sitting in is one of some 125 outstanding vehicles to be displayed at the big annual auto show.

Hillbillies' Hotrod Featured

The 14th annual San Mateo Auto Show, January 10-12 at the San Mateo County fairgrounds will feature the brand-new Beverly Hillbillies Hot Rod.

This car came to the television Clampett family when Jethro decided that a family of their means needed a car with a little more "style."

Since the show's producer, Paul Henning, did not want to completely discard the 1921 Oldsmobile Roadster which had become such a famous trade mark of the show, he instructed automotive stylist George Barris to build a souped-up version of the old jalopy.

To accomplish this, Barris contacted a classic car collector who owned a '21 Olds roadster and convinced him to sell it by assuring him that the car would not be cut to pieces, destroying its antique value.

Barris and his associates then began the extensive customizing job—the final result of which can be seen at the San Mateo Auto Show.

The complete body of the car had to be removed and the chassis modified to accept the '69 Oldsmobile 442 engine, automatic transmission and rear axle. The brakes also had to be brought up to date to compensate for the added power and weight.

To give the exterior of the car the "hot rod" look requested by Henning, Cragar Chrome Mag wheels were installed and Firestone Indy Super-Sport tires mounted.

The completely re-worked roadster is painted fire red metal flake and accented with yellow racing stripes running along the rocker panel. Four hand-built bucket seats are trimmed in a matching yellow and use black as an accent color.

The San Mateo Auto Show will be open from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Friday, January 10, and from noon to 11 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, January 11 and 12.

Blank Entries In Cage Tourney Win

Eight teams competed for winning laurels in the Seventh Annual Daly City High School Basketball Yuletide Classic.

The tournament, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, concluded its play on January 3.

The championship game was won by the Blank Entries of Jefferson High School, in a 46-34 victory over the Holy Angels A.A.'s.

The members of the winning team were Ken Reitz (voted tournament Most Valuable Player), Bill Gregory, Tom Del Sarto, Ken Stockton, Kay Groft, Bruce Davidson, Rick Burger, and Bill Denatale.

Tournament All-Stars were also picked. They were Larry Belfrage, Jerry Mahood, Kay Groft, Ken Reitz, Tom Scott, Paul Romer, Tom DelSarto, Bob Moody, Frank Rebarber Jr., Mark Storman, and Brad Quanstrom.

Mr. Alfred M. Kimmel
2049 South El Camino Real
San Mateo, California

Dear Mr. Kimmel:

At your request we are summarizing the situation at El Camino Real and 20th Avenue.

This has been one of the highest accident locations in the City of San Mateo. It has also been a source of continual traffic delays. In an effort to help, mast arm signals were put in early this year. The improvement was not enough to do the job.

The City Council has now approved a recommendation that a left turn storage lane be installed. On March 1, 1969, the work will begin. As you know, the curb parking in front of your business will have to be changed to a NO PARKING ZONE at that time.

While the effect on your business may be considerable, we know that you, too, are concerned with the overriding problem of safety to the thousands of people who pass by daily. Hopefully the delays granted by the Council have enabled you to plan an appropriate business adjustment.

Very truly yours,
ARTHUR B. SULLIVAN, CITY MANAGER

Boat and Sports Show

If it will blow up and float or fold up, it will be at the twenty-seventh annual San Francisco National Sports and Boat Show, January 10-19, at the Cow Palace.

Every kind of new-for-'69 inflatable boat or gadget will be on display at the colorful, 10-day show, the first national boat show in the country for 1969.

One of the large exhibitors of such gear will be the Kayak Corporation of America, which will include among its items a handy little gadget for the camera — a floating safe deposit box.

The Air Pram, an inflatable dinghy for fishermen and hunters which is easy to carry and handle, and the Surf-Rider, an inflatable sailboat, are two more of the expected eye-catchers.

Ideal for skin divers, surfers and swimming pool owners is the Clear View Mattress, another inflatable which has a clear view window through which the mysteries of the sea may be viewed while one floats over the water. It measures 60"x26"x6".

Other interesting items include a folding fiberglass sailboat; an inflatable chaise lounge called the Lazy-Lounge; a beach ring, which, when blown up, is six feet in diameter, and Hammer folding boats.

Additional inflatable exhibits will be displayed by Klepper and Weeks-Howe-Emerson.

All that's new in cruisers, sailboats, boat motors, fishing, camping and hunting will be exhibited in this huge exposition, largest of its kind in the west. Vacation ideas will be presented in the special Vacationland Hall.

Show times will be from 2-11 p.m., daily; 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Saturdays, and from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., Sundays.

Foreign dignitaries, U.S. Naval officers and civic leaders will join in adding a touch of international flavor to the official opening ceremonies Friday.

The colorful exposition, which fills all available space in the huge Cow Palace, annually attracts more than 350,000 visitors.

Honored guests at the ope ing will include Consul General and Mrs. J. O. Lloyd of Great Britain; Rear Admiral Leo B. McCuddin, commandant of the 12th Naval District, and Mrs. McCuddin; Peter Anderson, Scotland's great casting champion who will direct his own fly casting school at the show; H. I. Moxey, an executive of Brooke Marine, Ltd., Lowestoft, England, builders of the 40-foot, $115,000 "Ocean Pirate," flagship of the exposition, and Richard Jose, boat show president.

Hundreds of luxury cruisers, sailboats, inflated boats, canoes and kayaks and thousands of new fishing, hunting and camping items will be on display at this, the first national boat show in the United States for 1969.

HOW LE PACINI SEES IT

Baird's Role With Jets

By LE PACINI

IF YOU'VE BEEN following the fortunes of the New York Jets in recent weeks — and if you're a pro football fan their fortunes would be impossible to neglect — you may have noticed a little guy in the Jets' defensive backfield darting in and out of camera range breaking up passes, tackling runners and returning punts. His name is Zill Baird, and his story is another of those Cinderella things — you know; the little guy from the little college who nobody wants to even look at who turns up mysteriously, one year, on a championship club.

Baird is, roughly speaking, a local lad, and we'll bet hardly anybody in these parts has ever heard of him, which is a fair indication of how well pro football knew him in 1962, when he graduated from San Francisco State College out of Lindsay High in Lindsay, California. Oh, Baird had played on a Gator championship team and had been All-Conference and all that, but he was only 5-10, weighed less than the 180 pounds he now weighs, and when he opted for a pro football career even some of his best friends told him he was crazy — and said "we told ya so" when not a pro team drafted him and he was floughed off by even his "hometown" 49ers annd Raiders.

In the meantime, the entire Gator coaching staff, headed by Vic Rowen, had been touting Baird as a pro prospect, particularly to the Baltimore Colts, with whom some of the State coaches had personal contacts.

But Baird had to sit out a whole year after graduation before he got his break. In 1963 the Colts were to work out at San Francisco's Lincoln High field, and by a strange coincidence, Baird was an assistant coach at Lincoln High by that time.

The Gator coaching staff finally talked the Colts into giving Baird a workout, and he so impressed them that they took him to camp and he was the last man cut before the season opened.

IN THE MEANTIME, Weeb Ewbank had left the Colts and taken over as head man of the Jets. He immediately latched on to Baird, and Bill's been a regular ever since. He has one of the league's better interception records and has yearly been among the most competent punt returners (He still holds the record for the longest punt return — 93 yards in 1963.)

"Baird," says Rowen, "is one of the most determined kids we've ever known. What he lacks in speed and size he makes up in guts and moxie. People on the Jet coaching stafff tell me that he's probably one of the most intelligent football players they've ever had.

"Baird proves that determination and desire still have a place in this computerized society. When he was at State he wanted to be a pro football player more than anything else. He said that he could prove it if they would only give him a chance, and when he got his shot he didn't blow it. He's a helluva kid." And in the football coach's venacular, there can be no higher praise.

AND, AS LOUELLA PARSONS used to say, this is our FIRST exclusive. Contrary to rumors, Rowen is definately NOT leaving San Francisco State and the football program definitely WILL continue. Rowen reports that he still needs good football players and that he will continue to recruit heavily. Therefore, any high school football players interested in playing for one of the winningest coaches in the country may contact Rowen in person at San Francisco State College. If you've got the credentials, Rowen's interested.

SO THAT THERE can be no misunderstanding, the following is NOT from Rowen but from this writer, via information from what we consider to be some reliable sources on the S.F. State campus.

A goodly number of the State Black athletes who boycotted Gator athletics did so not because of personal beliefs, but because they were threatened with bodily harm by dissident elements on campus if they did not go along with the strikers. In short, it has been intimidation more than principal which has caused much of whatever little trouble exists in the State athletic department.

If anybody ever questioned the specific 49er need for people who can make the long gainer, or for the general necessity of it in pro football, they need only to check 1968's final pro ball statistics to discover the error of their philosophy.

The 49ers didn't have a player near the top ten in average yards gained on passes, kickoff returns, or punt returns. Virtually every successful pro team had men among the leaders in those categories, especially in the kickoff and punt return departments.

Some examples: Baltimore had the seventh and eighth ranked punt return men (Rick Volk and Tim Brown) and the leader in KO returns (Preston Pearson); Dallas had the top man in PR (Bob Hayes) and the seventh best in KO's (Craig Baynham); the Rams' Ed Meador was sixth in PR, while Ron Smith ranked second in KO returns; KC's Noland "Super Gnat" Smith ranked first and sixth in PR and KO returns, respectively; Oakland's George Atkinson ranked second and first in PR and KO returns, respectively; and San Diego's Speedy Duncan was third in PR and seventh in KO returns.

AFTER WATCHING all those bowl games, we came to only one conclusion . . . football is no faster than baseball, yet that is the big rap against baseball. Oh sure, the length of a football game is predictable, but not necessarily shorter, especially since the new college rule this year which provides for times out after each first down to allow more time for the setting of the yard marker. Many college football games ran around three hours this past year, probably a little longer than the average length of a baseball game. (In some future column, when we have more space for baseball, we'll go into exactly who it is who complains about the length of baseball games.)

If the action in football is so fast and furious, then how was there time for the TV network electronic geniuses to re-run plays three times (all from different angles) via vidio tape between plays, and still be able to swing back to live action in time to catch the teams lining up at scrimmage?

THERE WAS ONE OTHER thing we noted in the bowl games. There were so many "all-Americans", according to the announcers, in each game, that we figured there were roughly three All-Americans for each position, offensively and defensively, just among the teams which made the bowls! Multiply that by all the teams which didn't make bowls, and there must have been at least 400-500 All-Americans this past football season. Amazing!

TAG ENDS: Bill Russell has to be one of the most amazing athletes of all time. At age 34 he's the oldest pivot man ever to play regularly in pro basketball. And he isn't just hanging in there. Check weekly NBA statistics and you'll find he's usually one-two in rebound averages. . . . And if you want to read an interesting, informative and entertaining piece on Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion of the world and currently a Millbrae resident, pick up this month's issue of San Francisco Magazine. We know it's a good story because yours truly wrote it.

Sportsmen Pick Up 11th Win

The Sportsmen defeated the No Ideas, 40-24, to pick up their eleventh win in the Daly City Recreation Department-sponsored Adult 3-Man Hunch Basketball League.

Leading the Sportsmen on the court was S. L. Mixon, who tallied 23 points.

In the only other game, the Brothers picked up their tenth win as they slipped past the tough Gators team, 40-33.

Willie Redmond scored 23 points, while his brother Oscar hit for 14 markers to lead the Brothers' attack. John O'Hare scored 17 for the Gators.

Signups Now Taken For CSM Clinic

Applications are now being taken for the ninth annual Northern California Baseball Clinic, to be held January 18 at the College of San Mateo Little Theatre.

Open to all college, high school, Babe Ruth, American Legion and Little League coaches, the clinic will feature Houston Astro manager Harry (The Hat) Walker and former Giant Eddie Bressoud.

"We are inviting all coaches in Northern California to attend this worthwhile clinic," stated organizer John Noce, baseball coache at CSM.

Sponsored by the Peninsula Baseball Coaches Association, the clinic will also feature UC Riverside coach Don Edwards, San Jose City College coach Don Oldham, and Stanford assistant coach Bill Allhouse.

Walker will give a three hour presentation on hitting, while Bressoud will comment on shortstop play. The art of bunting will be illustrated by Edwards, with Oldham giving hints on pitching.

The clinic will commence at 9 a.m. Advance registration, which can be gained by writing Noce, College of San Mateo, 1700 West Hillsdale Boulevard, is $2. Registration at the door will be $3.

Santa Visited Knights in DC

Grand Knight John Richardson of Marian Council 3773, Knights of Columbus, was host at an "open meeting" and the adults' annual Christmas party for the friends and relatives of the Knights.

The party was held in the Broadmoor Community Center on the last meeting date of the year for the Knights.

Serra Bowl announces the beginning of the only Senior Citizens League in this area, a mixed handicap league for the beginner, as well as the experienced bowler. A meeting will be held at Serra Bowl on January 19 at 1 p.m. to elect officers and organize the league.

Our next free class instructions in bowling will start January 22 at 12:30 p.m. For further information on the Senior Citizens League call Pat Guaraglia; for the classes, Phyllis Duckworth.

Machine Catches Fire

Fire flared up in a waxing machine at the J. S. Crocker Company in San Bruno Thursday, but only minor damage was reported by the fire department.

A fire department spokesman said firemen worked "a couple of hours" mopping up water and that damage appeared to be in the form of soot and burnt paper on the machine. Heat had set off the sprinkler system.

Firemen were called to the firm, located at 1000 San Mateo Avenue, at 10:53 p.m. to extinguish the blaze.

Golf Heads Are Named In Pacifica

The Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, has appointed Wayne Webster, Jr. manager and professional of the Pedro Point Golf Academy, and Bill Dougherty, owner of the Academy and a pro himself, to run the local annual City Golf Tournament at Sharp Park Golf Course.

Webster, who will be chairman, is tentatively scheduled to hit the big time tour in June, competing in the PGA tourneys during the summer months. Both Webster and Doughterty have handled tournaments at various clubs in California and have an extensive background in the sport.

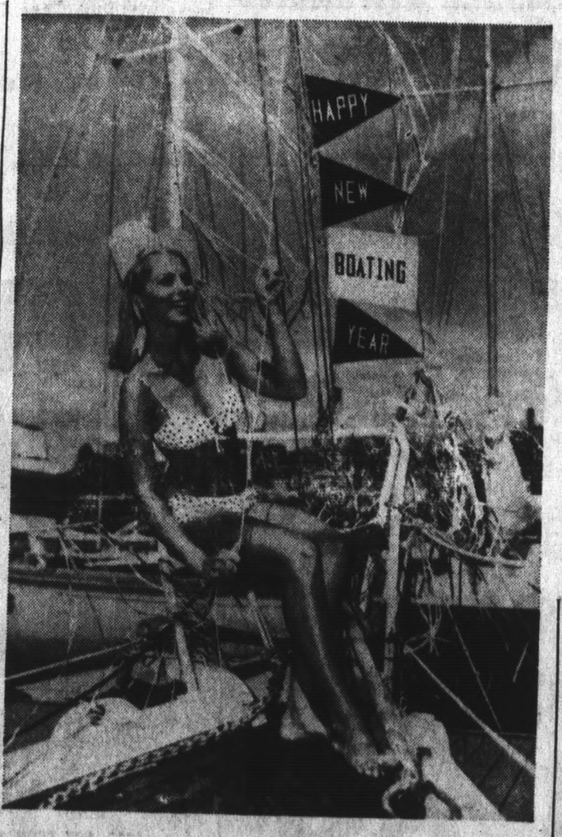
Webster's tentative plans to make the PGA circuit would put a contestant with Pacifica as his home base in national golf competition for the first time in history.

Webster said this week that other committee chairmen for the tourney will be named shortly and the first meeting will be held in January. He and Dougherty said they hoped to lure top ranked amateurs and pro golfers to compete in the local tournament.

Date for the tourney, originated and sponsored for many years by the Pacifica Tvern Owners' Association, has not yet been selected, but will be at the first committee meeting, Webster said.

SALMON

More than a million salmon may make the autumn spawning run up the Fraser River in British Columbia. They cover the 300 miles upstream in 18 days, traveling about 17 miles a day.



HAPPY BOATING! That's the hope for the new year from Boat Queen Cathy Johnson as the twenty-seventh annual San Francisco National Sports and Boat Show nears at Daly City's huge Cow Palace on Geneva Avenue. Show, which attracts thousands, will run from January 10 through 19.

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

"Laugh Now, Cry Later" could be the subtitle of "Little Murders," which has insidiously sneaked into the Marines Memorial Theatre under the expert guidance of American Conservatory Theatre.

What begins as a comedy, producing a hearty share of raucous laughter (if you find Jules Feiffer's barbed cartoons pointedly droll and satirical) in the first act, turns into a riotous nightmare of barbaric, uncontrolled terror after the intermission.

While some may discharge the shocking drama in the style of comedy of absurdity as little more than a "witty caricature" of modern life in New York, others will be gripped by its horrifying dissection of what the press release terms "absurdities of public and private life."

As in "Virginia Woolf" and "The Dutchman," even in the atrocious absurdity of "Endgame" and "Out at Sea" there is that sense of terror that what we're seeing is not all in fun, but an oblique view of life as it surrounds our everyday existence. So that in our indulgent laughter, there is a disturbing element, realized all too clearly when a quite normal urban family resorts to shooting a rifle out their New York apartment window at every living, passing thing and howling with glee over the fun of it.

HERE IS A savage little comedy, meant to shatter one's complacency and pour acid into those wounds already rendered by Feiffer's newspaper cartoons.

The acting company is perfection personified, with Angela Paton as the neurotic, overly protective mother and G. Wood, her officious, insensitive and ultraconservative husband.

Opinionated and suffocatingly middle-class in their pretensions and prejudices, they've spawned a homosexual son (played with ascerbic malevolence by Mark Bramhall) and an aggressive daughter who has finally met a man she can dominate and mold.

BETWEEN MICHAEL Learned's desperate plea to her husband to fight back and John Schuck's benign resistence to violence (he lets people beat him up because it doesn't hurt anyway), there is a familiar insight to "games people play" in the psychological sense. But it remains a source of relative laughter until at that peak moment of emotional crisis, she's picked off by a sniper from across the street.

Peter Donat as a hippie minister and David Dukes as a super-uptight policeman who can't find a motive for the 248 unsolved N.Y. murders, nor apprehend any of the assassins, are studies in frenatic psychosis. And even at their sickest, they are hilarious.

Nagle Jackson is an accomplished director when it comes to comic timing. Even at such circumspect comic lines as "he bombed Korea and Hanoi and never had an enemy in the world," the touch and emphasis is on Americans being able to laugh at themselves.

Only when we see the inversion of that laughter, and behold ourselves as the murderers of each other, does that laughter become stifled and choked in reality.

Mateo Park Beautification Group Meets

The San Mateo Park and Recreation Commission meets at 4 p.m. Wednesday at the San Mateo City Hall to consider a number of items, among them a report that four annual city beautification awards will be made before the City Council on January 20.

At the same time six citations for tree preservations will also be made, it is reported to the commission in a letter from the City Beautification Committee.

Appointment of Andrew A. Taylor to the Beautification Committee is expected to be approved.

And the board will note a letter from Norman R. Naegle, deputy superintendent of the city elementary school district in which he reports on an offer for a land exchange made by Emile Lieutard. The latter has some hillside property in Hillsborough and offered to trade for the Hayward Park school site. Naegle explains the magnitude of the exchange is not permitted under the California educational code. Lieutard had suggested that the Hillsborough acreage be used for park and open space land. Presumably it would have to be de-annexed from Hillsborough.

And the Commissions will review a letter from James H. Svojtek, 925 South Eldorado Street opposing the park bond proposal in its initial form which exceede. $4 million. Since then the bond issue has been reduced to $2,354,000 and will be submitted to city voters on April 1. Svotjek protests rising taxes and urges they be curbed. A large number of retired people have reached their limits of tax endurance, he notes, and the tax situation has "gotten out of hand."

LAURENCE BINSACCA, for 23 years traffic manager of the MJB Coffee Company of San Francisco, has announced his early retirement from that firm. Binsacca, 1548 Kalmia Street, San Mateo, was with MJB for 39 years. He is a member of the San Francisco Transportation Club, San Mateo Elks Club and San Francisco Industrial Traffic Association. He is a past president of the San Francisco ICC Practioners as well.

Last Signup In Rec Classes

A reminder to all interested persons wishing to register for 1969 winter activities with the San Mateo City Recreation Department. Registration will take place today through Saturady, January 11, with ten-week activity sessions beginning January 13 and ending March 21. Interested persons having secured a 1969 Winter-Spring Program from any of the recreation centers, city libraries or elementary schools, will registr for activities during the scheduled time and location as listed in the 1969 program. The public will be registered on a first-come, first-served basis.

Scheduled activities involve special programming for preschoolers, intermediate grades, teens, adults and senior adults. Emphasis has been placed on both individual and group participation. With the opening of Joinville Municipal Swimming Pool several new classes have been designed for winter swimming. These include competitive and synchronized swim classes, junior and senior life saving, and swim instruction for beginners, advanced beginners, intermediate, and adult swimmers.

For further information contact either the San Mateo Recreation Department or any of the recreation centers.

No Meeting In San Mateo

Monday night's regularly scheduled San Mateo City Council meeting had to be postponed due to a lack of quorum.

It is being tentatively rescheduled for next Monday night. Next Monday will also be the study meeting for the San Mateo planning commission.

City Manager Arthur B. Sullivan is expected to determine later today whether or not the regular Thursday night study session of the Council will be held.

Illnesses and absences from the city caused last night's delay.

Realtors Support Trustees at CSM

Commendation for the strong stand of the trustees and the administration of College of San Mateo in the handling of the disruption of the San Mateo campus was voiced Monday by the combined real estate boards of San Mateo County and the land title companies of this area.

A resolution was adopted by the real estate advisory committee to the real estate department at the college in which they voiced confidence and voted to support the position of the trustees headed by Francis W. Pearson, president, and obert Ewigleben, president of the college and other members of the administration.

The resolution reads, "We firmly believe that order and discipline must prevail over disruption and destruction; there is no excuse for wanton vandalism in the name of any cause or movement; that the proper responsibility for decision as to the merits of any program are those empowered by the people as trustees and administrators who are in complete possession of the facts and not those semi-informed do-gooders and rabble rousers who make demands without knowledge of the consequences.

"We commend the trustees and administration for its stand of strength to make the system of 'due process' work while maintaining peace and academic progress on the campus for those students who really want to accept the challenge and the opportunity which this college affords them in all its facets."

The resolution was signed by Nixon Elliott, San Mateo-Burlingame Board of Realtors; Ronald C. Arndt, North San Mateo County Board of Realtors; Kay Miller, Menlo-Atherton Board of Realtors; Marty Mohr, Redwood City, San Carlos, Belmont Board of Realtors; Frank Simmons, Pacifica-Coastside Board of Realtors and H. Richard Noonan, California Land Title Association in San Mateo County.

Air Traffic Here Still Pushing Up

November air traffic totals at San Francisco International Airport registered "satisfactory gains over the corresponding 1967 period and assured the airport of a record year in 1968."

Airport General Manager George F. Hansen Monday said the 11-month (January through November) figures exceeded the totals for all of 1967 in passengers, mail and freight shipments and in aircraft movements — landings and take-offs.

"Totals for December, and for all of 1968, will not be available until late in January," Hansen said. "But we expect the December traffic will show substantial gains over a year ago and bring the year's totals above earlier forecasts."

The 11-month (1968) and 12-month (1967) totals were: Passengers — 12,864,916 vs. 12,723,81; U.S. Mail — 245-686,487 pounds vs. 217,791,582 pounds; air freight — 507,303,700 pounds vs. 481,168,609 pounds, and aircaft movements —324,136 vs. 323,429.

November figures and comparisons with a year ago were: Passengers — 1,068,948 vs. 977,-961, a gain of 9.3 per cent; U.S. Mail — 27,945,540 pounds vs. 21,433,557 pounds, up 30.4 per cent; express — 1,497,799 pounds vs. 1,387,101 pounds, an 8 per cent increase, and air freight — 50,239,541 pounds vs. 40,235,933 pounds, a gain of 24.7 per cent.

Aircraft movements totaled 28,282 as follows: Scheduled carrier, 24,636; military, 364, and general aviation classifications (non-scheduled carrier and itinerant or locally based private and-or corporate planes), 3,282.

Hansen said holiday travel exceeded that of any Christmas-New Year period in airport history with approximately 375,000 passengers passing through the airport during the week before Christmas. And the passenger volume between Christmas and the New Year was nearly as great, he added.

Investment Lectures Set

Reynolds and Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, will conduct a series of lectures on "How to Invest."

These sessions will cover such subject as the various types of stocks and bonds, mutual funds, guidelines for sound investing, speculating versus investing, how Stock Markets function, the Over-the-Counter Market, and the current market outlook. Special take-home materials will be provided and a question and answer period after each session.

The lectures will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Cabana Hotel, Palo Alto, January 14, 21 and 28; Thunderbolt Hotel, Millbrae, January 15, 22 and 29; Burlingame Women's Club, Burlingame, Hillsdale Inn, San Mateo and Lamplighter Lodge, Sunnyvale, January 16, 23 and 30.

Ad Execs Will Meet

The new Sacramento Union newspaper plant will be the location of the January 10 meeting of the California Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

The Union is acting as host for a "mechanical night" during which visiting newspaper executives will be given a complete tour of the Union's new plant, which features complete offset composition and press facilities.

The evening will open with a dinner at 6 p.m. at the El Rancho Hotel in Sacramento. Chairman for the event is Ben Pettus of the Turlock Daily Journal. Robert R. Carey, Assistant Advertising Director of the Union, is making arrangements for the host newspaper.

Try Something Exotic With Pork and Beans

Are you looking for an effective way to stir up some conversation at the dinner table? Well, sometime when you are out of brown sugar, mustard, catsup, or onions, try something exotic with that can of pork and beans.

By merely adding a little curry powder, liquid smoke, oregano, or even cinnamon, you can create a masterpiece that's bound to start some table talk.

Now that your new recipe has pleased the family and solved one of your pressing problems—what can I serve at the dinner party that's really different? Of course, pork and beans the gourmet way.

SHEER DELIGHT BEANS

2 cans (1 lb. 5 oz. each) Pork and Beans
¼ cup barbecue sauce
2 tablespoons A-1 sauce
3 dashes Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon mustard
3 dashes Red-hot sauce
3 or 4 slices bacon

Combine all ingredients except bacon in a 3-quart casserole. Blend well, then cover with bacon strips. Cover and bake 1 hour and 10 minutes at 350 degrees. Remove cover and continue cooking 15 to 20 minutes longer.

ALOHA WIENER BAKE

4 to 6 wieners, split lengthwise
4 slices pineapple slices, drained
1 tablespoon butter, margarine or bacon drippings
2 tablespoons soy sauce
¼ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 can (1 lb. 15 oz.) Pork and Beans

In large skillet lightly brown split wieners and pineapple slices. Remove pineapple slices and set aside. Combine remaining ingredients and toss lightly. Pour over wieners; top with pineapple slices and simmer with lid until bubbly . . . or place in oven uncovered and heat at 350 degrees about 25 minutes.

BEANS AND WIENER STEW

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can (1 lb.) stewed tomatoes
1 can (1 lb. 5 oz.) pork and beans
4 wieners, cut in 1 inch lengths
½ teaspoon onion salt
¼ teaspoon ground cumin (optional)
½ teaspoon parsley flakes
1 bay leaf
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

In a large saucepan, melt butter and saute garlic until transparent. Add remaining ingredients and simmer for 20-25 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz

Q. What's the name of this meat cut?
A. Beef tenderloin.
Q. Where does it come from? How is it identified?
A. This meat comes from short loin section. It's boneless weighing from three to five pounds. There's a small amount of fat on the outside as well as a small amount within the meat. The larger end is round, gradually tapering to a thin, flat end. Purchase whole or cut.
Q. How is it prepared?
A. This most tender section of beef may be broiled or roasted; in the case of individual servings which are less than one-half inch in thickness, it may be panbroiled, or panfried. To broil patties, cut one inch thick, allow 12 to 15 minutes for rare, 15 to 20 minutes for medium, two to three inches from heat. To roast the whole beef tenderloin, place on a rack in a shallow, open pan. The oven temperature is set at hot (425°F.). Insert the meat thermometer in the thickest part and cook to rare (140°F.). Total cooking time for a whole beef tenderloin is 45 to 60 minutes. A half tenderloin cooks in 45 to 50 minutes.

Nations Add Zest to Menu For a Party

International dinner — Let's start with a soup, green and tempting from American gardens — then a French main dish — chicken in wine — noodles from Vienna — salad from the Orient, and English club rolls. Strawberry Pie aux Bruxelles, and coffee from Italy add the final international touch to the party menu.

Asparagus-Watercress Appetizer Cup
Chicken in Red Wine
Poppy Seed Noodles
Chinese Cabbage Salad
Toasted Club Rolls
Strawberry Pie with Ice Cream Topping
Espresso Coffee Milk

ASPARAGUS-WATERCRESS APPETIZER CUP

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of asparagus soup
1 soup can milk
¼ bunch watercress (about ¼ cup)
⅛ teaspoon basil
Dash pepper

Blend all ingredients 2 minutes in electric blender, or chop watercress very fine and combine with other ingredients in saucepan. Heat; stir now and then. Garnish with sprigs of watercress. 2 to 3 servings.

Shrimp Dish Is Simple And Elegant

If you keep the main course simple, you have more time to spend on a complicated dessert. This easy - but - elegant shrimp dish and heat - and - serve peas can be prepared in afew quick minutes, giving you time to run up a hot chocolate souffle, certainly one of the world's greatest desserts.

Shrimp a la Marquis
Hot Rice
Tiny French Peas and Onions
Golden Twist Rolls
Hot Chocolate Souffle
Coffee Milk

SHRIMP A LA MARQUIS

¼ cup chopped onion
1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
½ cup milk
1 cup diced cooked shrimp
3 cups cooked rice

Cook onion and mushrooms in butter until onion is tender. Add soup, milk, and shrimp. Heat until soup is thawed; stir often. Serve over rice. 2 cups.

Elegant Beef Cuisine Exemplified in Beautiful Beef Wellington

When it comes to elegant beef cuisine, nothing can surpass a beautiful beef Wellington. You can prepare this classic entree, originally created for the famous English Duke of Wellington, with the choicest cut of California beef — the whole tender succulent filet. Many renowned chefs have built their reputations on perfecting this dish.

For the hostess entertaining at home, the California Beef Council home economists have created this version which is every bit as impressive and delicious as a restaurateur's finest offering.

After a preliminary roasting of the beef, follow the easy directions for wrapping in a flaky butter pastry. Just under the delicate crust is a layer of duxelles — a flavorful chopped mushroom mixture — pressed into the pastry. Another time you might spread liver pate over the beef. Decorative pastry cutouts and sesame seeds add the final touch and it's ready to bake until golden.

Although this beef specialty may take a little extra time, you can get it ready for its final browning well ahead of party time. Allow the roast to stand 15 to 20 minutes before carving. Bright red tomatoes filled with horseradish cream make a delicious and colorful garnish.

ELEGANT BEEF WELLINGTON

1 (4 to 4½-pound) California beef filet
Salt
Pepper
Butter Pastry
Duxelles
1 egg
1 tablespoon water
Sesame seeds

Place beef on rack in shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Roast in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Let stand until cool, then trim off all fat. Meanwhile, prepare Butter Pastry, and chill 30 minutes or longer. Prepare Duxelles.

TO ASSEMBLE BEEF WELLINGTON: Roll pastry to rectangle large enough to wrap around beef (about 3 inches longer than roast and 12 to 13 inches wide). Press cool Duxelles into pastry, leaving an inch uncovered on all edges. Place beef on pastry. Moisten pastry edges and enclose beef pressing edges firmly together. Trim off excess pastry from ends so single layer covers ends of roast. Place roll seam side down on shallow baking pan. Cut decorations from pastry trimmings, and place on top. Brush pastry with egg beaten with water. Sprinkle with sesame seeds. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes until browned. Let stand 15 to 20 minutes before slicing. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

BUTTER PASTRY: Combine 3¾ cups sifted flour and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut in 1 cup cold butter and 2 tablespoons shortening until particles are fine. Add ice water, a tablespoon at a time, to make stiff dough, using about ¾ cup. Shape dough into square, cover and chill.

DUXELLES: Finely chop 1 pound fresh mushrooms. Saute in ¼ cup butter, along with ¼ cup chopped green onion, cooking until liquid evaporates. Stir in ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon marjoram, 2 teaspoons flour and dash pepper. Add ¼ cup white table wine. Cook, stirring until mixture boils and thickens. Remove from heat. Stir in 2 tablespoons chopped parsley and ½ cup finely chopped cooked ham. Cook before spreading over pastry.

TOMATOES WITH HORSERADISH CREAM

8 small tomatoes
½ cup whipping cream
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
½ teaspoon Dijon mustard
Dash salt

Cut tops from tomatoes, hollow slightly and scoop out seeds. Drain upside down. Whip cream until stiff. Fold in remaining ingredients. Fill tomatoes with cream just before serving. Makes 8 servings.

MASTER BURGERS

1 pound ground beef
½ cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon shortening
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
Dash pepper
6 buns, split and toasted

Brown beef and onion in shortening; stir to separate meat particles. Add soup and seasonings; simmer 5 to 10 minutes to blend flavors. Stir often. Serve on buns. 6 servngs.

x-Shrimp Sauce: Combine 1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup, ⅓ cup milk, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, and ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind. Heat until soup is thawed; stir often. Serves 4.

Veal Ragout Fermiere: Bon Appetit

French Provincial supper — Fermiere means farmer in French. The verb ragout means to restore one's appetite. The noun ragout identifies a French-style stew of meat and vegetables with a zippy blend of spices and seasoning. Bon appetit.

Veal Ragout Fermiere
Artichoke Heart Salad (marinated)
Toasted French Rolls
Blueberry Strudel (frozen)
Coffee Milk

VEAL RAGOUT FERMIERE

1 pound veal cubes
1 large clove garlic, minced
¼ teaspoon leaf thyme, crushed
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed onion soup
½ soup can water
1 cup diced celery
½ cup cooked tomatoes
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
4 medium potatoes (about 1 pound), quartered
1 package (9 ounces) frozen cut green beans

Cook veal, garlic, and thyme in butter in large heavy pan until veal is browned. Add soup, water, celery, tomatoes, and seasonings. Cover; cook over low heat about 1 hour. Add potatoes; cover; cook 20 minutes. Add green beans; cover; cook 15 minutes more; stir often. 4 servings.

Daly City Sailor In Mini Battle

A Daly City Navy enlisted man, EN 1 Armando Gonzales, participated recently in a naval action in the "vest pocket" war on the island of Phu Quoc. Phu Quoc, about half the size of San Mateo County, lies about 25 miles off the mainland Prpvince of Hatien, in South Veitnam. Thirty miles long, and from two to 17 miles wide, it is fertile and flat, except for a low range of hills on the east coast. Its industries mines, lumbering and fisheries, it has a population of 7,000. Most of its residents live in Duong Dong on the west coast. In the action described, the Viet Cong were routed, but not identified nor captured, it appeared. A lieutenant describes the action.

By Lt. F. B. GREEN, USN

AN THOI, Vietnam — The war on Phu Quoc Island, located 50 miles west of the Vietnamese mainland in the Gulf of Thailand, has often been described as a vest pocket miniature of the war on the mainland — nevertheless, the Viet Cong are as real and as much an enemy as the VC elsewhere in Vietnam; they are a constant threat to the vast prisoner of war complex located on the island.

To meet this threat, the Vietnamese Regional Forces, charged with the security of local population centers and military installations, recently initiated a series of unique operations which included an amphibious landing. Every available military resource in the area was used.

The Vietnamese Navy, U.S. Navy, and U.S. Coast Guard provided surface units; everything from the troop-carrying landing craft to a rocket fire support ship, the St. Francis River.

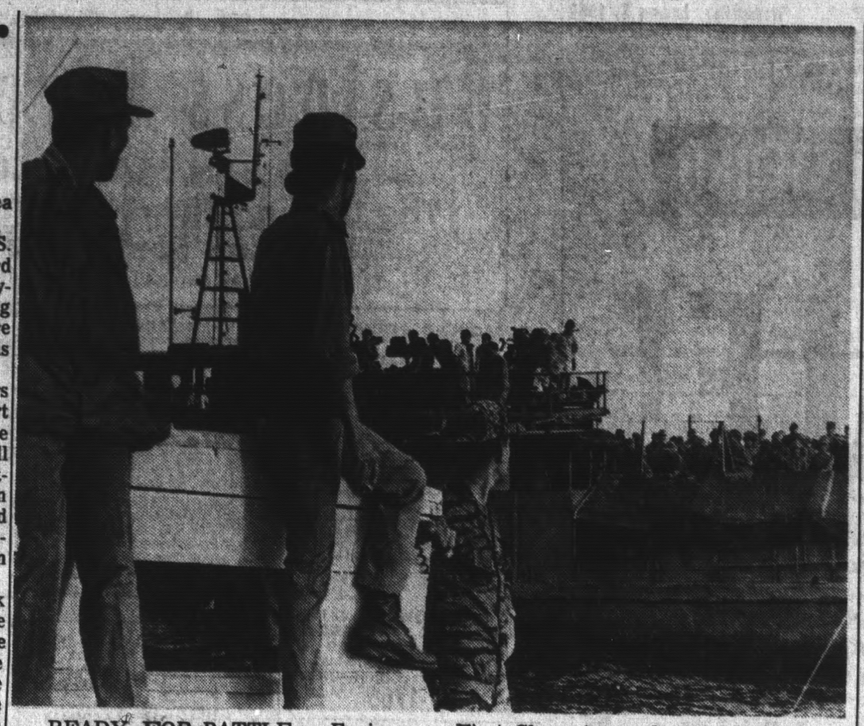
They bombarded the shores and provided gunfire support during the entire operation. The U.S. Army provided a small spotter plane; and the Vietnamese Regional Forces with U.S. Army advisors comhitted eight companies to the operation, two of which tok part in the amphibious landing.

The amphibious assault took place in the early hours of the second day of the operation three miles south of Ham Ninh on the eastern sid of the island. The VC had been forced into the area by troops moving in from the northwest.

An amphibious landing was something they did not expect. Seeing the multitude of troops coming ashore was too much for Charlie, and he fled leaving much of military value behind.

As one observer described the scene when swift boats and Coast Guard cutters opened up on the beach with mortar and 50 caliber machinegun fire in preparation for the landing, "This is getting to be a hot little island."

And so it will continue to be as Vietnamese and U.S. Armed Forces combine in their relentless pursuit of the enemy — both on and off the mainland — in the country of South Vietnam.



READY FOR BATTLE — Engineman First Class Armando S. Gonzales (lower center), dressed in camouflage jungle fatigues, stands by as the coastal group junk he advises comes alongside a troop-laden Vietnmese gunbot. Gonzales is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Gonzales of 544 Niantic avenue, Daly City.

Pontiac Motor Division announced recently that it will introduce a new car this month that "goes one performance step further" in the popular muscle car field, a field and market Pontiac opened up five years ago with the GTO.

The new supercar, to be named The Judge, is specially designed to offer a unique combination of added performance, excellent handling characteristics and a very distinctive appearance.

It will have the standard power train a 366-horsepower, V-8 Ram Air engine with 400-cubic-inch displacement, 10.75:1 compression ratio and four-barrel Quadra-jet carburetion, coupled with a fully synchronized three-speed heavy-duty manual transmission floor mounted control with a Hurst T-handle. A 3.55:1 axle ratio will be standard as will dual exhausts.

The front will be distinguished by a black grille, exposed headlamps and functional Ram Air hood scoops. A three-color slash stripe on the upper edge of the front fender running back to the door, "The Judge" decals on the front fender and Ram Air decals on the sides of the hood scoops will provide side identification. At the rear will be a 60-inch floating deck air foil with The Judge emblem on the upper right hand surface.

To complete its distinction, the first production units will be painted a bright red including the Endura energy-absorbing front bumper.

Bucket seat, driver-oriented instrumentation, a shallow dish, vinyl-cushioned steering wheel and an upper level ventilation system will highlight The Judge's interior features.

A complete list of options and accessories will also be made available for The Judge which will be available in Pontiac dealerships in late January.

John R. Cady has been named vice-president-general manager of the Commercial Products Division, Kaiser Jeep Corporation.

Announcement of Cady's promotion was made by S. A. Girard, president of the corporation. He stated that Cady is filling the post left vacant by the death of B. J. Heard.

Cady has most recently been in charge of the division's marketing function, having been appointed director of marketing and elected vice president — marketing during 1968.

He moved to Toledo in 1966 upon his appointment as field-sales manager, and he was elevated in 1967 to the position of general sales manager.

Cady joined Kaiser Jeep Corporation in 1955 and served in field sales capacities in Cincinnati, Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburg, and New York.

As executive head of the Commercial Products Division, Cady will be responsible for "Jeep" vehicle production operations in the company's Toledo plants and for the sale of vehicles in the domestic market.

A new and updated version of a public service flim on how to buy a used car is now available from the Chevrolet Motor Division.

"How to Buy a Used Car," a 14-minute sound-and-color film, has been seen by more than two million persons since it was released five years ago by Chevrolet.

With the used car market estimate to be about ten million units in 1969, the new movie version is expected to soar in popularity among members of civic and women's clubs, driver education pupils and vocational and college students.

The movie, with actors now decked out in more modern clothes and showing used cars of more recent vintage, describes how anyone can judge a car's quality by following several basic "tests."

These test include the "look" test, the dry run and the actual road test. Many other easy means of checking the "Health" of a used car also are shown.

Believed to be the first movie of its kind ever produced by an auto maker, "How to Buy a Used Car" can be obtained without charge. Requests for showing of the film by interested groups should be sent to the Chevrolet Motor Division, General Motors Building, Detroit, Michigan, 48202.

Classes For Children At Westside

Sunday at 9:45 a.m., 13 age-graded classes, including three for adults will meet at the Westside Baptist Church, Inverness Drive and Hickey Boulevard, Pacifica.

Also during the Sunday School Hour, Pastor A. David Donnelly will conduct a Church Membership Orientation class for those interested in affiliating with the church, or learning what the church teaches.

"When You Pray" is the topic for the 11 a.m. worship hour message. This is another message on prayer, in keeping with the theme of prayer being observed in Conference Baptist Churches the first two Sundays in January.

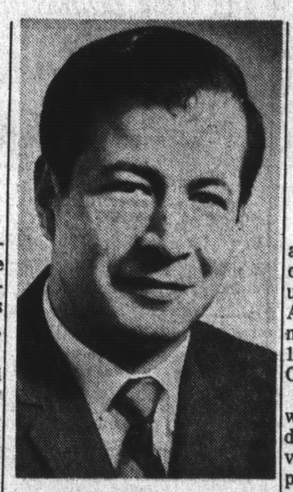
Special music for this service will be by the Westside Male Quartette.

During the adult worship hour, a primary church service will be conducted for boys and girls four through seven years of age.

A nursery is also maintained for babies and toddlers.

Youth fellowship will be at 6:15 p.m. Three youth groups, Junior Jet-Cadets; Junior High and Senior High CYF will then meet.

Also at this hour the Primary GMG, a program for girls of second and third grades in school, is to be held.



FREYDOUN F. MERAT of San Bruno has been promoted to international banking officer in Crocker-Citizens National Bank's international division in San Francisco. He has served in that division since joining the bank in February, 1962.

S.S.F. Rec Calendar Contest Set

The South San Francisco Park and Recreation Department has once again come up with a unique idea for the New Year. As of January 1, 1969 and running through 'til January 31, 1969 they are sponsoring a 1969 Calendar Contest.

The contest is open to anyone wishing to submit a 1969 calendar from a commercial or private business, industry or company throughout the bay to be eligible to enter just fill out the contest entry form and submit the form and calnedar to the Recreation and Parks Department.

This contest closes on Friday, January 13. Prizes will be awarded to first place winner in one of three categories: most unusual, most humorous, and most artistic.

All calendars will be displayed at the Magnolia Recreation Center, Grand and Magnolia Avenues, South San Francisco, until Friday, February 7, 1969. Judging will take place during the first week in February by a committee from South San Francisco's Cultural Arts Commission.

Testimonial For Noonan

A testimonial dinner will be held January 23 for retiring Jefferson Elementary School District Trustee Thomas Noonan.

The dinner will be held at Brentwood Lodge on El Camino Real in South San Francisco, beginning with no-host cocktails at 7 p.m. Tickets for the dinner are available from the district administrative offices in Daly City at $7.50 each.

Noonan, former president of the JESD board of trustees, has served on the board since 1958. He resigned December 16.

In addition to serving as a JESD trustee, Noonan has been a member of the County Committee for School District Organization since 1964.

Fish Taken At School

The San Bruno police are investigating the fishnapping of five aquatic onimals from the aquarium in the office of Monte Verde School Friday.

Authorities said the fishnappers entered the office after smashing a window with a rock.

The theft was discovered on Friday.

Nothing else in the office appeared to be disturbed or missing, police said.

Leaving behind the tank in which the fish were swimming at the time, the burglars took a kissing fish, two goldfish, a bullhead and one other variety of fish.
